Victoria Engineer Shocked At Ontario Road Accusation

Expected Only Call To Testify in Case

Word from Toronto that he had been charged yesterday in a warrant with conspiracy to defraud the Ontario government shocked Victoria's R. F. Petursson, supervising engineer of the British Columbia district of the Trans-Canada Highway.

"I can't understand it," Mr. Petursson told the Colonist.

"When I was in the East recently I was told I might have to appear as a witness. I think there must have been some mixup. I can't see how I can be involved."

An Ottawa dispatch by Canadian Press quoted Works Minister Winters as saying that the federal highways inspector had been questioned by his department before the charge was laid. It involved irregularities in Ontario road-building contracts, the minister said.

Before he came here in 1952, Petursson had spent two years in the Lakehead area on the Trans-Canada Highway project.

NOT IN DUTIES

"Inspectors do not deal with contractors," Mr. Petursson said last night. "My duties were simply to see that contractors' engineers kept to certain schedules."

RCMP here said it would be a matter for city police action if Mr. Petursson were to be served here. But the city police had had no instructions from Ottawa last night, Chief John Blackstock told the Colonist.

Mr. Petursson and his family live at 316 Moss Street.

"We are all very much disturbed," Mrs. Petursson said. "We simply cannot understand it."

Mr. Winters said his department has done "quite a bit" of investigating in connection with Trans-Canada Highway construction in Ontario, according to the Canadian Press.

"We questioned Petursson and took him to Toronto to enable legal agents of the province of Ontario to question him," he said.

'BEFORE COURTS'

Mr. Winters in an interview said the Petursson case is now before the courts and is a matter to be dealt with by Ontario authorities.

Mr. Petursson, who joined the Trans-Canada Highway division of the old resources department June 19, 1950, was transferred from the Lakehead district June 1, 1952, to be inspecting engineer at Victoria. He was promoted to supervising engineer of the British Columbia district on the retirement of H. L. Hayne August 19, 1952, and has held that post since.

From 1931 to 1936 he served as location engineer and later divisional engineer with the Ontario department of northern development in the Kenora district.

He left the department in 1937 and for 13 years operated his own engineering construction firm in the Thunder Bay-Kenora district.

FIRST FEDERAL MAN

Canadian Press said Mr. Petursson was charged in a warrant with conspiracy to defraud the Ontario government. The warrant reportedly was sent in West Coast authorities. He is the first federal government employee accused in connection with the case.

Other warrants named three contracting companies and some of their officials and the former No. 3 man in the Ontario highways department, together with some other men who have worked for the department. They are charged with conspiracy to defraud.

The former high official of the department named is Cecil H. Nelson, suspended as chief engineer for what was described as lack of co-operation with investigators. At his Port Hope home Nelson said he had no immediate comment.

Nelson was arrested Monday, as were seven of the other 10 men named in the charges.

AMOUNT SECRET

A source close to the investigation said the amount involved in the charges covered by the warrants was not disclosed because the charge is conspiracy rather than straight fraud.

The companies charged are Standard Paving Ltd., Tomlinson Brothers Ltd., and its subsidiary, Tomlinson Brothers (Eastern) Ltd., and Bergmann Construction Company.

Crown officials said the conspiracy charge against Standard Paving Ltd. arises out of work done on the Trans-Canada Highway between Terrace Bay and Marathon, near the northern shore of Lake Superior.

FREED ON BAIL

At Whitby, Ont., Nelson, Walter Bergmann, president of the Bergmann company, and John A. West, superintendent of the Bergmann firm, appeared before a justice of the peace and were released on bail of $10,000 each.

The charge against Tomlinson Brothers Ltd. of Fort William and Winnipeg, said to concern a contract or contracts in the Fort William area, names the company and its subsidiary, W. S. Tomlinson of Fort William, its president; C. W. Taylor of Fort William, company superintendent; Arthur M. Mills, former Fort William division engineer for the Ontario department of highways, and Mr. Petursson.

At Fort William, Mills and Taylor appeared in police court Monday and were remanded to May 31.

It Could Happen Here—Again

Public works, health and other provincial government departments have been alerted to be prepared to help in the event of disastrous floods striking the Mainland again this spring. This aerial view of the Fraser Valley is the potential flood area. Flood damage amounted to $30,000,000 in 1948 and serious danger is once more indicated. The most serious threats were recently reported in the Columbia and Kootenay areas as well as in the Fraser River basin.

Yanks Afraid of Not Being Liked

Britons Jealous of U.S. Newspaper Poll Shows

LONDON (Reuters)—Jealousy over the fact the United States is "exactly" what Britain used to be—the richest and most powerful nation on earth—is a "bitter pill" for Britons and one of their main difficulties in getting along with Americans.

That was one of the main conclusions drawn by the mass circulation Daily Mirror in the second instalment of a report on what Americans here think of the British people and "what the British think of the Yanks."

Sunday the Mirror's top columnist, William Connor, told the gripes of American servicemen on the treatment they get from Britons; while on Monday he reported on what galls Britons about Americans.

BRITONS TOUCHY

After noting that Britons are "touchy" about having fallen from their former place of world leadership, Connor, who writes under the name "Cassandra," commented on the Americans, by saying: "And boy, do you touch us off."

He said that Britons dislike Americans' "chummy, chummy brotherhood and sisterhood" and their "fear" of not being liked.

Beyond this he said "the failure of the United States government to consult or inform the British people on important decisions" made them feel as if they weren't even "a junior partner in the common problem of world affairs."

Two such "decisions" cited by Connor were the bombing of the Yalu River between Korea and China and the development of the hydrogen bomb.

Another British gripe listed by Connor was "the fun you make of our domestic habits, the way you despise us for being dull."

"A cup of tea," he said, "is more enjoyable to us than the garish delights of the juke box."

Khokhlov Brought To U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate internal security subcommittee announced Monday that a Russian secret police official who surrendered to Americans in Germany has been brought to the United States.

Capt. Nikolai E. Khokhlov is to appear today before the subcommittee.

In London, the foreign office disclosed that Khokhlov had been questioned there but cast no new light on the background of spying activities of two Russian diplomats in Britain.

President Meets Key Men

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower met with his top defence chiefs at the White House Monday amid a surge of behind-the-scenes activity suggesting an urgent review of American policy in Europe and Asia.

With a Democratic-led storm over foreign policy blowing up on Capital Hill, Eisenhower conferred separately with Defence Secretary Charles Wilson and Admiral Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff.

DULLES ACTIVE

In another move, State Secretary Dulles conferred with the ambassadors of Australia, Thailand and the Philippines to discuss his proposal for creation of an anti-Communist "united front' in the Far East.

Lincoln White, state department press officer, told reporters Dulles called the envoys "to find out who is to join the united front and what commitments they are prepared to make."

Give Old Soldiers More Aid, Gen. Pearkes Urges in House

BY TOM GREEN
Colonist Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA—Major-General G. R. Pearkes, VC, in the House of Commons Monday night, called upon the government to bring down legislation immediately amending the War Veterans' Allowance Act to give better treatment to Canada's old soldiers who are in advancing years and have a hard time to make ends meet.

"Those men are advancing years. They have given so much in the past that they are finding it utterly impossible, in many cases, to keep up with the modern trend of life today," the Progressive Conservative member for Esquimalt-Saanich declared.

LOOK FOR HELP

"They have been looking to this government to do something new to help to meet the critical situation with which they are faced in their declining years."

Such legislation, he added, could be placed before a veterans affairs committee of the commons now being set up. The Canadian Legion with its 300,000 membership was demanding that something be done for these old soldiers. It spoke for a million and a quarter millions veterans, even though they were not all members of the Legion.

AMENDMENTS URGED

"Let the government now choose to bring forward amendments which will relieve the doubt, uncertainty and suffering with which these old soldiers are now faced," General Pearkes challenged.

If the government refused, he continued, then it "is guilty of most callous indifference and utter failure to realize the situation which is facing the veterans of Canada today. The government knows what the situation is. The government can bring in the legislation. If it fails to do so, I consider it to be an atrocious affront to the ex-servicemen of this country."

French Bolster Delta

HANOI, Indo-China (AP)—French Union forces are strengthening their defenses in the vital Red River delta below Hanoi against a rebel assault that might come before the seasonal big rains hit their peak at the end of June.

Qualified French army sources said Monday night it was highly unlikely the Red-led Vietminh could shift the forces which overwhelmed Dien Bien Phu into attack positions against the delta perimeter before another month.

Rebel troops were reported moving in and out of the northwest Indo-China country and French fighters and bombers heavily attacked key roads northwest of Dien Bien Phu.

Meanwhile, the rebel Vietminh radio said Monday night every possible medical assistance was being given to French Union soldiers wounded and taken prisoner at Dien Bien Phu.

From Saigon the French government instructed its top military commander in Indo-China to arrange with the Vietminh for evacuation of French Union wounded from Dien Bien Phu.

Gen. Henri Navarre, commander of French Union forces in Indo-China, was ordered to make contact with the rebels' Communist military chief, Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap, to arrange the airlift.

Police Found 'Hiding' To Apprehend Drivers

Members of Esquimalt council last night had a few words to say about the methods being used by their policemen in trapping traffic offenders.

"I can readily understand why the fines are up," said Clr. G. K. Sammon after it had been reported that more than $7,000 had been levied so far this year.

"Three times this week I have seen a policeman hiding up by the coalyard to catch people where the E. & N. Railway crosses Lampson Street."

He said council had recently agreed that the stop sign at the crossing should be replaced by a warning sign. However, this had not yet been done.

Policemen, he added, should be out stopping "seen crime" and should not spend their time hiding in the hope of catching someone.

Clr. J. E. Carey backed up Clr. Sammon.

"Regarding this police business I want to warn you that people heading into Victoria are likely to be nabbed by the brewery. A constable has been hiding there for the past few days."

"We're not concerned about Victoria," interjected Reeve A. C. Wurtele.

Clr. G. F. Argyle stated that the constable on Lampson Street had been there some time and was not giving out any tickets.

Huge Bundle of Papers Pope's 'World Window'

ROME (NANA)—At 7.30 a.m. each day, a uniformed gendarme leaves Vatican City and returns with Pope Pius XII's "window on the world."

Crossing spacious, cobbled St. Peter's Square, he collects the Pope's huge bundle of papers from a newsstand. At 78, the Pope is perhaps one of the world's most avid readers of the news columns.

Even during his recent grave illness, the Pope continued to read the newspapers. His papers include the Italian Communist publications which are not normally sold at the St. Peter's kiosk—and a sporting daily, for the Pope follows international sports events. He once admitted to a group of radio commentators he even listened to football broadcasts.

No Place Like Home Even Down Manhole

NEW YORK (AP)—Transit police Monday found a 'teen-age boy who had set up housekeeping in a cable-splicing room 20 feet below a street manhole in Brooklyn.

The youth, Robert Lindell, 15, apparently had been living in the room about three weeks.

What caused him to take up such a residence was not known immediately.

Police said the quarters were neat and orderly. There was an auto rear seat for sleeping, two seats from an old car as chairs, a can of alcohol for cooking and even two pictures on the walls.

A woman saw young Lindell walking along a railroad cut Sunday and notified police. He evidently entered the room via a door off the cut, rather than through the manhole above.

Royal Children Visit Famous Apes

GIBRALTAR (Reuters)—Prince Charles and Princess Anne played with the famous Gibraltar apes Monday while their parents, Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh, were busy with the official business of inspecting "The Rock."

The apes, only native ones on the European continent, are the tailless Barbary variety.

Tradition says that when they leave Gibraltar, the British will too, which is something the government of adjacent Spain has been demanding.

Seventeen of the 40 to 50-pound animals were shown to the children. The youngsters ran from one to another feeding them peanuts.

Old Bess, 16, oldest member of the pack, was on hand for the visit but not Max, the pack's acknowledged leader. He had a toothache.

The Queen in a luncheon broadcast said Britain was determined to ensure the "safekeeping of the colony and fortress of Gibraltar."

In recent months the government of Gen. Francisco Franco has been demanding that Britain return Gibraltar to Spain. It was ceded to Britain in 1713 by the Treaty of Utrecht.

Pro-Spanish demonstrations were feared during the Royal visit and tight security regulations were imposed. Instead Elizabeth and her husband were greeted by loud shouts of "long live Queen Elizabeth" from the English-speaking part of the colony's 28,000 inhabitants and cries of "viva Reina Elizabeth" from Spanish-speaking residents.

The shouts could be heard across the border in Spanish territory where khaki-clad Spanish soldiers stood guard among barbed wire and pillboxes.

The Queen and the Duke drove to within 200 yards of the frontier during their motor tour of the colony. They later drove through the city's narrow streets and were cheered by crowds hanging out of office windows in the business district.

During the drive they traveled for nearly two miles through tunnels blasted deep into the rock of Gibraltar during the Second World War by Canadian army engineers.

Absent-Minded Medico Starts Holmes, Watson On Famous Adventure

BY SIR ARTHUR CONAN DOYLE

(Published by arrangement with the estate of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle. World rights reserved. Illustrations copyrighted, 1954, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

The lethal legend of a flaming hellhound that haunted an ancient hall becomes a grim reality in this genuine masterpiece of detective fiction. The story is by Dr. John Watson, assigned to the case by Sherlock Holmes.

CHAPTER 1

Sherlock Holmes, who was usually very late in the mornings, save upon those not infrequent occasions when he was up all night, was seated at the breakfast table. I stood upon the hearth-rug and picked up the stick our visitor had left behind him the night before. It was a fine, thick piece of wood, bulbous-headed, of the sort which is known as a "Penang lawyer." Just under the head was a broad silver band, nearly an inch across. "To James Mortimer, MRCS from his friends of the CCH," was engraved upon it, with the date "1884."

"Well, Watson, what do you make of it?"

Holmes was sitting with his back to me, and I had given him no sign of my occupation. "How did you know what I was doing? I believe you have eyes in the back of your head."

"I have, at least, a well-polished, silver-plated coffee-pot in front of me," said he. "But tell me, Watson, what do you make of our visitor's stick? Since we have been so unfortunate as to miss him and have no notion of his errand, this accidental souvenir becomes of importance. Let me hear you reconstruct the man by an examination of it."

"I think," said I, following as far as I could the methods of my companion, "that Dr. Mortimer is a successful, elderly medical man, well-esteemed, since those who know him give him this mark of their appreciation."

"Good!" said Holmes. "Excellent!"

"I think also that the probability is in favor of his being a country practitioner who does a great deal of his visiting on foot."

"Why so?"

"Because this stick, though originally a very handsome one, has been so knocked about that I can hardly imagine a town practitioner carrying it."

"Perfectly sound!" said Holmes.

"And then again, there is the 'friends of the CCH.' I should guess that to be the Something Hunt, the local hunt to whose members he has possibly given some surgical assistance."

"Really, Watson, you excel yourself," said Holmes, pushing back his chair and lighting a cigarette. "I am bound to say that in all the accounts which you have been so good as to give of my own small achievements you have habitually underrated your own abilities. It may be that you are not yourself luminous, but you are a conductor of light. Some people without possessing genius have a remarkable power of stimulating it. I confess, my dear fellow, that I am very much in your debt."

He had never said as much before, and I must admit that his words gave me keen pleasure. He now took the stick from my hands and examined it for a few minutes with his naked eyes. Then with an expression of interest he laid down his cigarette, and, carrying the cane to the window, he looked over it again with a convex lens.

"Interesting, though elementary," said he as he returned to his favourite corner of the settee. "There are certainly one or two indications upon the stick. It gives us the basis for several deductions."

"Has anything escaped me?" I asked with some self-importance.

"I am afraid, my dear Watson, that most of your conclusions were erroneous. When I said that you stimulated me I meant, to be frank, that in noting your fallacies I was occasionally guided towards the truth. Not that you are entirely wrong in this instance. The man is certainly a country practitioner. And he walks a good deal."

"Then I was right."

"To that extent."

"But that was all."

"No, no, my dear Watson, not all—by no means all. I would suggest, for example, that a presentation to a doctor is more likely to come from a hospital than from a hunt, and that when the initials 'C.C.' are placed before that hospital the words 'Charing Cross' very naturally suggest themselves."

"Well, then, supposing that 'C.C.H.' does stand for 'Charing Cross Hospital,' what further inferences may we draw?"

"Do none suggest themselves? You know my methods. Apply them!"

"I can only think of the obvious conclusion that the man has practiced in town before going to the country."

"I think we might venture a little farther than this. Look at it in this light. On what occasion would it be most probable that such a presentation would be made? When would his friends unite to give him a pledge of their good will? Obviously at the moment when Dr. Mortimer withdrew from the service of the hospital in order to start in practice for himself. We know there has been a presentation. We believe there has been a change from a town hospital to a country practice. Is it, then, stretching our inference too far to say that the presentation was on the occasion of change?"

"It certainly seems probable."

"Now, you will observe that he could not have been on the staff of the hospital since only a man well-established in a London practice could hold such a position, and such a one would not drift into the country. What was he, then? If he was in the hospital and yet not on the staff he could only have been a house-surgeon or a house-physician — little more than a senior student. And he left five years ago—the date is on the stick. So your grave, middle-aged family practitioner vanishes into air, my dear Watson, and there emerges a young fellow, under 30, amiable, absent-minded, and the possessor of a favourite dog, which I should describe roughly as being larger than a terrier and smaller than a mastiff."

I laughed incredulously as Sherlock Holmes leaned back in his settee. "As to the latter part, I have no means of checking you," said I, "but at least it is not difficult to find out a few particulars about the man's age and professional career." From my small medical shelf I took down the Medical Directory and turned up the name. There were several Mortimers, but only one who could be our visitor. I read his record aloud:

"Mortimer, James, MRCS, 1882, Grimpen, Dartmoor, Devon. House surgeon, from 1882 to 1884, at Charing Cross Hospital. Winner of the Jackson prize for Comparative Pathology, with essay entitled 'Is Disease A Reversion?' Corresponding member of the Swedish Pathological Society. Author of 'Some Freaks of Aatavism' (Lancet, 1883). 'Do We Progress?' (Journal of Psychology, March, 1883). Medical officer for the parishes of Grimpen, Thorsley, and High Barrow."

"No mention of that local hunt, Watson," said Holmes with a mischievous smile, "but a country doctor, as you very astutely observed. I think that I am fairly justified in my inferences. As to the adjectives, I said, if I remember right, amiable, unambitious, and absent-minded. It is my experience that it is only an amiable man in this world who receives testimonials, only an unambitious one who abandons a London career for the country, and only an absent-minded one who leaves his stick and not his visiting-card after waiting an hour in your room."

"And the dog?"

"Has been in the habit of carrying this stick behind his master. The marks of his teeth are very plainly visible. The dog's jaw, as shown in the space between these marks, is too broad in my opinion for a terrier and not broad enough for a mastiff. It may have been—yes, by Jove, it is a curly-haired spaniel."

He had risen and paced the room as he spoke. Now he halted in the recess of the window.

"My dear fellow, how can you possibly be so sure of that?"

"For the very simple reason that I see the dog himself on our very door-step—and there is the ring of its owner. Don't move. I beg you, Watson. He is a professional brother of yours, and your presence may be of assistance to me. Now is the dramatic moment of fate, when you hear a step upon the stair which is walking into your life, and you know not whether for good or ill. What does Dr. James Mortimer, the man of science, ask of Sherlock Holmes, the specialist in crime? Come in!"

Shady Pansies Do About-Face

BY M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

During the past couple of weeks, fully half the letters coming across my desk have been from home gardeners wondering what on earth they can grow in the shady parts of their gardens.

I'm having me quite a time trying to answer these correspondents, for hardly any of them bother to tell me what kind of shade they have. There is shade and shade, you know, ranging in degree all the way from really gloomy spots to places which get early morning and late afternoon sun and are shaded only during the hottest part of the day.

You're out of luck if your problem spot is dank and gloomy and overhung with low-growing branches of trees, for there isn't much you can get to grow in such a situation except mosquitos. Ferns and Solomon's Seal will do fairly well, but even that old standby, Lily-of-the-valley, doesn't like really dense shade, and while the plants will grow under such conditions, they usually fail to produce any flowers.

A lot of our common garden flowers are descended from woodland plants, and their great-granddaddies grew in park-like forest glades, with the forest floor dappled with little spots of sunshine. Such a condition is ideal for a whole host of plants, including lilies, primroses, foxgloves, columbines and many others.

Sometimes such pleasant, dappled shade can be created out of a gloomy situation by trimming off the lower branches of the offending trees and doing a little judicious thinning of the upper limbs.

Shade which is caused from trees is often complicated by soil which is dry and impoverished from the competition of the tree roots. The trick here is to dig in plenty of organic matter into the soil, using rotted leaves, compost, manure or peat moss. Be a little heavy-handed with the fertilizer, keeping in mind that the tree roots will snitch a big share of it. When you water, soak the ground thoroughly, leaving the sprinkler on twice as long as you think you should, for such spots don't get much benefit from light rains. Water heavily but infrequently—a good soaking every two weeks is a lot better than a daily damping, as plants in shade take a long time to get their foliage dry.

There is another kind of shady bed in which you can grow practically anything except the most confirmed sun-worshippers. These are the situations on the north side of a fence or wall, with nothing overhanging them, and a really wide expanse of open sky above and to the north. Any amateur photographer with a light meter will tell you there is a lot of light reflected from the north sky in such a spot. When the fence or wall is painted a light color, even more light is available for the plants.

I remember on one occasion planting a north-facing bed alongside a white fence with pansies. To my dismay, all the flowers did an about-face, and spent the summer staring at the fence!

Canadian Unit Reaches Korea

OTTAWA (CP)—The 3rd Regiment, Royal Canadian Horse Artillery, has arrived in Korea, the army announced Monday.

The 600-member regiment is the fourth Canadian unit to display the insignia of the winged white horse in Korea, and when it has completed its hitch all four regiments of the regular force Canadian artillery will have served a year in the Korea theatre.

The 3rd Regiment replaces the 4th, now on its way home. It was met by its commanding officer, Lieut. Col. J. W. D. Symons of Victoria, who arrived in Korea earlier.

Security Forces Kill Red Leader

KUALA LUMPUR (Reuters)—Two Communist terrorists, one of them Soh Tuen, secretary of the Communist terrorist organization, were killed in Jehore state by a patrol of Gurkha security forces, it was announced Sunday.

Course To Be Held In Child Behavior

A series of four weekly meetings designed to assist parents, teachers and play group supervisors to observe and understand children's behavior is scheduled for late May and early June.

The course, termed "The Importance of Understanding Children's Behavior," is sponsored by the Vancouver Island Co-operative Play Group Association.

Films will be used during each session and emphasis will be placed on the normal growth and development of normal children.

The classes will be under the direction of J. D. Patterson, regional supervisor of the National Film Board, and Professor W. H. Geddes, Victoria College.

VARIOUS PHASES

First session, to be held at Victoria College at 8 p.m., May 27, will deal with the importance of understanding the various phases and exhibitions of children's behavior in relationship to personality, physical and mental growth, child-parent relationship, and social relations.

A certificate will be issued to each person who satisfactorily completes this course. Those wishing to take the course should register at Victoria College.

Fire Protection Unchanged by Pact

Fire protection in Esquimalt has not been changed one iota by a recent agreement between firemen and municipal council, it was stated last night.

The question came up at the regular meeting of the council when it was reported that firemen had agreed to accept a 2½ per cent wage increase and change over to special policemen with no bargaining rights under a firemen's union.

There are only two firemen in Esquimalt at present after the resignation of Bill Hodson yesterday.

"All three men agreed to the terms on Friday," said Clr. James Bryant. "There's been no change in the fire protection of the municipality, and that should be made known to all interested."

Hodson resigned from the three-man force after council refused to institute a two-platoon protective system.

Wages were not a factor in the trouble, said a union spokesman.

The main trouble involved the Hours of Work Act and the firemen's Two-Platoon Act, and there is still a violation of either act despite council changing the classification of the three workers the spokesman said.

An Esquimalt Municipal Employees' Association (TLC) membership meeting will consider the situation, it was reported.

Reeve A. C. Wurtele declared "it burns me up when someone raises a point like this."

He regarded it as a minor matter, he said. Council met the union Friday and the union indicated it was happy with the arrangement.

Reeve Wurtele said the municipality is better off in protection than it has ever been. Three policemen have been enrolled recently, receiving $20 a month extra as firemen. "All police do firemen's duties," he said.

Rejects Oil Drums

Esquimalt residents must obtain standardized garbage cans if they want their efficient collection service to continue, Esquimalt council ordered last night.

According to the municipal engineer, J. Graeme, there is a tendency for residents to replace their garbage cans with converted oil drums being sold by a Victoria firm.

Clr. Walter Holder said he could see nothing wrong with the larger cans. He suggested that they could be used if the council bought small trolleys in which the drums could be trundled to the garbage truck.

"They're much more serviceable than the smaller standardized cans," he said.

Missionary, Lawyer, Architect, Musician

Versatile Canon Hincheliffe, Tolmie Cabinet Member, Dies

Rev. Canon Joshua Hincheliffe, 83, who climaxed an amazing career in mission work, law, politics, music and architecture by serving B.C. as minister of lands and education in the Tolmie government, died Saturday in North Vancouver General Hospital.

At the height of his career he was [illegible] versatile man in Canadian politics."

Born at Bradford, England, May 24, 1870, he abandoned a promising architectural future in 1890 and came to Canada. He completed his education in Winnipeg, graduated with honors from St. John's College there and was ordained a minister.

He went to the Blackfoot Indian Reserve in what is now Alberta and, with another missionary, successfully originated an alphabet in the Blackfoot tongue and compiled a grammar. He came to B.C. in 1906 and was rector at St. Thomas' Church at Chilliwack for nine years.

He was an army chaplain overseas from 1916 to 1918.

He was elected to the provincial House as a Conservative for Victoria in 1920 and again in 1924 and 1928. He served as minister from 1928 to 1933. While he was a member he studied law and was admitted to the bar at the age of 53.

He was the first minister of education to introduce a system of scholarships for those unable to pay their way through college. He also had textbooks rewritten whenever he found too many "Americanisms" being studied by Canadian students.

He retired from public life in 1933 but in 1941 accepted the rector's post at St. Clement's Church Lynn Valley, and stayed on until final retirement in 1952.

Services will be held from St. Clement's at 3 p.m. Wednesday, with Rev. Canon John Leigh officiating. Burial will be in Field of Honor, North Vancouver Cemetery.

Survivors include his widow, two daughters and a son.

Vietminh Rebels Offer Proposals For Cease-Fire

GENEVA (CP)—The Geneva conference, in its longest session to date, heard an eight-point proposal by the Vietminh rebels Monday for a "complete and simultaneous" cease-fire throughout Indo-China.

Outlining the plan, Vietminh Foreign Minister Pham Van Dong called for "mixed commissions" drawn from both sides in the war, now in its eighth year, to supervise the cease-fire.

Superficially, the proposals seemed to offer at least a basis for negotiation at the nine-power Indo-China conference. But the Vietminh plan is long, complex and ambiguously worded, and Canadian delegates warned that it might well be "full of jokers."

The Western powers are largely standing behind peace proposals submitted at the opening session Saturday by French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault. This calls for an armistice with strict guarantees and international control.

SIMILAR PLAN

The Vietminh suggestion of "mixed commissions" is similar to Communist plans for unification of Korea, which the United Nations have rejected.

Other developments as the Geneva conference went into its 12th day include:

- External Affairs Minister L. B. Pearson entertained Foreign Secretary Eden of Britain at dinner at the Canadian delegation headquarters. It was understood they had a general discussion of conference problems.
- The Vietminh foreign minister, opening a session which lasted nearly four hours, said that the Vietminh is ready to authorize evacuation of seriously wounded prisoners from Dien Bien Phu, overrun by the Vietminh last Friday. Bidault said the suggestion was "better late than never" but a difference of opinion developed later as to whether any agreement about evacuation, if decided upon, would include Viet Mamese as well as members of the French expeditionary corps.
- Delegates of Cambodia and Laos, two of the three associated states of Indo-China rejected Vietminh statements that there exist in the two states what the Vietminh calls "liberation movements" and "resistance governments." The Communists call these alleged governments Pathet Lao Laos and Khmer Camboda.

OTHER POINTS

Other contributions to the debate on Indo-China were made by Eden and Gen. Walter Bedell Smith, leader of the United States delegation. Both hit back at what they termed the "distortion" of U.S. policy reflected in the Vietminh delegate's speech.

Eden said it was a travesty to say the U.S. threatened the liberty or independence of anyone.

Four-Winged Bird 'Puzzles' Officials

TIMAGAMI, Ont. (CP)—Officials of the Ontario department of lands and forests said Sunday they are puzzled by the report of a United States fisherman that he saw a large, four-winged waterfowl in bushland near here.

The bird is supposed to have two sets of wings. They project from its body in tandem, much the same as an old-time bicycle built for two.

George B. Waterston of Philadelphia said he saw the bird as he drove along Highway No. 11 near this town about 60 miles north of North Bay.

"It seemed to be about the size of a Canada goose, only longer," Waterson said. "It was jet black in color and it flew at terrific speed."

Waterson, his wife and 19-year-old son were trout fishing here.

Forestry officials said they [illegible] before they believed it. However, they said it was possible for a bird to be hatched with two sets of wings.

U.K. Ends Rationing Of Butter

LONDON (Reuters) — Unrationed butter and margarine went on sale throughout Britain Monday for the first time since 1940. But housewives made no rush on their corner grocery stores.

Most firms agreed it was too early to gauge public response.

"With butter prices so high we do not expect housewives to flock into our shops," said a spokesman of one large concern. "Supplies are adequate for the moment."

VIE FOR FAVOR

For weeks manufacturers of butter and margarine have been vying for the British housewife's favor with big advertising campaigns.

When rationing ended officially at midnight Saturday the price of butter, which was subsidized, was 51 cents a pound. The unrationed price today is about 63 cents.

Under the rationing system the nation's margarine supplies were uniform, costing about 21 cents a pound. Now qualities vary, some selling at prices below the ration level and some above.

Cheese was also freed Monday from rationing and price control. The relaxation of the war-born food control system leaves only fresh meat and bacon still rationed but the government has announced that these will be removed later this summer.

Canada To Continue Defense Build-Up

OTTAWA (CP) — The crisis in Indo-China re-emphasizes for Canada that there can be no slackening in the defense build-up.

During his western inspection tour two weeks ago, Defense Minister Claxton stressed that Canada can't afford to lower its guard.

Defense expenditures, he said, must continue at around the present level of some $2,000,000,000 annually for possibly years to come. If the defense effort faltered, "we'd be sitting ducks."

The fall of Dien Bien Phu adds more weight to Mr. Claxton's argument, defense officials said Monday. Communist aims for world domination have not changed.

In 1950, the North Atlantic Treaty Organization decided on a "crash" defense program on the supposition that Russia would attack the West by mid-1954. A "crash" program meant big and rapid defense build-ups in NATO countries.

Russia had a number of opportunities to start a major war in the early years of NATO but didn't.

So last December, NATO reasoned that the immediate threat was less urgent and decided on a defense policy known as the "long pull." This means maintenance of present strength and a gradual increase in the quality of that strength over a long period of time without wrecking the economies of some NATO members.

Tokyo Geisha Queen Retiring at 21

TOKYO (Reuters) The queen of Japanese geisha girls has decided to retire, at the tender age of 21.

Hidekoma, whose Oriental beauty lured senior government officials and millionaire industrialists to her door, announced her decision Saturday to Japanese reporters.

"I'm sick and tired of being a geisha," she said.

Hidekoma was the leading light of Tokyo's demure feminine entertainers, who make bright conversation and bear masculine troubles. Their chief role is providing high-class companionship, at a price.

Hidekoma reached the peak of the profession in a hurry, and was one of the few geishas ever mentioned on the floor of the Japanese parliament. She was named in current bribery scandals as a major expense for corrupted officials spending their loot.

But the geisha queen Saturday smashed illusions about both the glamour and the income of her profession.

"A geisha is just like a doll—at the mercy of the proprietress of the geisha house," she said.

She added that despite reports of lavish expenditures by her patrons she herself never had received more than $30 a month "to send to my mother plus a little spending money." The rest went to proprietress of the geisha house where she was employed.

Unions Sign Agreement To End Raids

TORONTO (CP) — A no-raiding and mutual assistance agreement, believed to be the first of its kind in Canada, was signed Monday by top officials of the United Auto Workers (CIO-CCL) and the International Association of Machinists (AFL-TLC).

The pact, which covers about 117,000 workers, provides that both unions will cease raids on plants already organized and will not "sling mud" at one another in unorganized plants, and calls for mutual co-operation in dealing with the common problems common employers and common industries.

It was signed by George Burt, Canadian director, UAW, and George Schollie, Canadian director, IAM.

An adjudication procedure in case of dispute between the two is set up in the agreement.

Army Secretary, McCarthy Clash

WASHINGTON (AP) Army Secretary Robert Stevens, flaring up at Senator Joseph McCarthy, said Monday there are "doggone few" Communists in the army and that he is just as determined as McCarthy to keep every Red out.

McCarthy, in turn, accused Stevens of having a "selective memory" and of being "naively and unintelligently anti-Communists."

The Wisconsin senator said there are men with Communist connections "at this very moment" in one highly sensitive branch of the army. That subject was dropped for the moment, however, when the army denied any knowledge of the division McCarthy mentioned.

In the midst of the wrangling, Democrats and Republicans on the Senate investigations subcommittee each came up with a plan to shorten the televised inquiry into the McCarthy-Pentagon row, now in its 13th day.

A formal vote on the proposals was the first order of business for today. Although the Republicans hold a 4-to-3 voting edge, indications were that if either plan was adopted it was more likely to be the Democratic one.

Acting chairman Karl Mundt (Rep., S.D.) has announced that he will oppose any cut-it-short move proposed by either side unless acceptable to both sides in the controversy.

LIMIT QUESTIONING

The Democratic plan, offered by Senator John McClellan (Dem., Ark.) would limit questioning of further witnesses to one hour for each senator and four hours for each of the opposing sides.

Senator Everett Dirksen (Rep., Ill.) came up with the other cut-it-short plan. It calls for Stevens to leave the stand at once, for McCarthy to testify next and for the public hearings to recess as soon as the Republican senator leaves the stand.

Crashes into Plant

NAPLES (CP) — An Italian Air Force jet plane spun out of a formation Monday and crashed into a cocoa-cola bottling plant, killing the pilot and an office worker. Nine other workers were seriously injured by explosion and flames following the crash.

Crew Faces Arrest For Refusal To Sail

MONTREAL (CP) The crew of a second British ship staged a wage-and-sympathy strike Monday and the captain countered with a statement that he will seek the men's arrest.

A spokesman for the 30-man crew of the collier Cibeu said the men were protesting low wages and also expressing sympathy for the plight of 18 crew members of the freighter Shelldrake, arrested Saturday after they allegedly refused their captain's order to take the ship to sea.

Both ships operate in the Canadian coastal trade. Spokesmen for the men said their British wages did not cover Canadian costs of living.

The Shelldrake sailors, arrested on a charge laid by the Shipping Federation of Canada, pleaded not guilty Sunday to refusing a legal order to man the ship for sea.

Seamen on these ships receive the average British wage of $90 a month plus board and berth. Unionized Canadian seamen get a minimum of $204 a month.

Oddities

NORTH WINGFIELD, England (Reuters) — Miner Henry Moran, 38, moved into a house with the number 13 a year ago.

Since then he has been injured in a mine accident, his three daughters have suffered accidents and his wife became ill.

Sunday he was granted permission to change the house number to 11-A.

Global Weather Line

PRACTICAL steps to study the behavior of air masses at high altitude and so tap the breeding ground where the world's weather is made, are concerned in current accounts from Washington dealing with meteorological plans for 1957. While the United States appears to be making the initial move, a pole to pole line of weather stations would require international co-operation. There are a number of reasons why that co-operation would most likely be forthcoming in relation to the western hemisphere. Meteorologists are exploring the possibility of a convention which would authorize development of the scheme.

Up to the present western nations have established their meteorological services more or less independently of one another. Great Britain, the United States, Canada, and several South American countries take observations but from different base lines. The proposal now is that the 80th meridian west, be agreed upon as the base for an integrated chain of weather observing stations, stretching from within 200 miles of the north pole to the Antarctic continent and the region of the south pole. The immediate objective would be to test with radiosonde balloons the upper stratas of the atmosphere, where it is known that air masses begin the giant churning process which results directly in surface weather over land and ocean.

These observations if plotted to the same base line and persisted in daily in a complete traverse of western hemisphere would give invaluable data not only to the meteorologists, but also for aviation and shipping and in many other respects as well. The few shipboard weather stations which so far have been tried out on the Atlantic, and to a smaller extent on the Pacific, have provided ample evidence that fixed observation points and continuous inquiry combine to give very valuable results. The suggestion of establishing land-based observation points, while not new, would make for permanence and stability in the venture. It is too early to say that world-weather charts would result. That is something which remains to be tested, but this approach would be the farthest projection of man's mind on the way to that goal.

It Is a Long Dollar

WHILE there have been many charitable calls upon the Greater Victoria public since the year commenced, the current appeal by the Salvation Army perhaps is in a special category. All of the money that is donated by the public will be spent right here. It is a notably long dollar that is disbursed by the Salvation Army, and one for which there is a fully guaranteed result. In war and in peace the organization has won a fine reputation for the practical relief of human distress. While such services cannot always be detailed or shouted from the house tops, the character of the service is widely known and highly respected.

In the present effort the Salvation Army is seeking $30,000, actually required for budgeted outlays in the current year. As an organization which has never said no to the indigent or distressed no matter what the circumstances, its name and standing are full guarantees for the declared needs of the drive. Some residents in the greater Victoria area might have their eyes opened if they followed a Salvation Army case worker through the period of any consecutive 24 hours in this community. They would return convinced that such a service in support of the underprivileged is indispensable. And it is.

Cabinet Reshuffle?

UNOFFICIAL reports from Ottawa continue to predict this or the other change in the cabinet structure of the Liberal government. Mr. Abbott, it is whispered, is tired and does not wish to remain finance minister, if to remain in the cabinet at all. Mr. Pearson wants this, Mr. Garson wants that, and so forth at considerable, unconfirmed length. One factor is marked in much of this guessing and that is the number of times the names of civil servants are mentioned as possible choices for future cabinet material.

The civil service was not elected by the voters, and a civil service invasion of elective offices would not be a good thing in the interests of Canada but quite the reverse. The instance of the Prime Minister's former personal secretary is sometimes cited as precedent. Such a "precedent" would be a bad one. It could lead directly to the creation of a new bureaucracy, with little or no regard for the will of the electors. Any such trend would be seriously alarming to the voters if it were shown to be the government's own view.

If Prime Minister St. Laurent wishes to reshuffle his cabinet the decision should be his own. That should not rest on what any minister wants or does not want, but on the interests of the country to be served. If the Liberals have to go outside of their own ranks in the House of Commons for cabinet material, the civil service should be the last place to go.

A Very Limited Investment

VICTORIA is still very backward in the degree of attention it gives to elderly and handicapped individuals in our midst. The City itself seems to have stopped short of a dozen seats at isolated downtown places, in response to the urgent appeal that something be done about that. These seats—primly without advertising—are in constant use during the daylight hours, but there are far too few of them. What are 10 or 12 benches in a community of this size?

If the City is not prepared to go farther than that it should overcome its objections to name plates and let commercial interests do the job, as they volunteered to do. In a community with hundreds of war veterans, blind and elderly individuals, the absence of any place to sit down is as remarkable as it is discourteous, to residents and visitors alike who may be physically handicapped.

It is said that the City found the cost of the seats, at $40, burdensome. It can be suggested that the cost of not having adequate conveniences of this nature was each day costing the community much more than that. Nobody likes to stand until their feet blister, either at a bus stop or anywhere else.

Interpreting the News

Stalemate at Geneva

BY J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
Associated Press News Analyst

THE Geneva Conference has arrived at a stalemate even more quickly than expected.

Even the Communists kissed off the Korean question in a hurry, whereas they had been expected to kick it around for some time. They may come back to it.

Now they have come up with a reply to the French proposals for an armistice in Indo-China which leaves small ground for negotiation.

* * *

On two of their demands the Allies passed judgment long ago.

Their suggestion regarding elections to cover ultimate fate of the country parallel those which they previously sought to apply in Korea and Germany. They amount to a demand for freedom to coerce the voters as voters behind the Iron Curtain have constantly been coerced.

Their demand for recognition of the Vietminh sponsored so-called governments in Laos and Cambodia is the same in principle as their demand for the puppet government in East Germany.

Both of these provisions are aimed at giving the Communists ultimate complete control of Vietnam, and at beginning the infamous coalition system in Laos and Cambodia by which they have so often come into control.

The Reds similarly proposed withdrawal of all foreign troops from Indo-China, which would leave loyal native forces at the mercy of Russian and Chinese-supplied Red forces long before the loyalists are prepared to defend themselves.

The French government already has told its wavering parliament that if it wants a truce on such terms it must get another cabinet to do it.

The Assembly is expected to hesitate before precipitating such a crisis.

While offering their own truce proposals which they are bound to have known would prove completely unacceptable to the West, the Reds also indicated they would not accept the French proposals, including Red evacuation of Laos and Cambodia, as a basis for negotiation.

This puts the conference on the note where it is expected either to end or to resolve itself into another Panmunjom.

"I took a back seat, didn't I?"

Thinking Aloud

". . . of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings"

By TOM TAYLOR

A LADY with a sprightly pep, Mary Lowrey Ross, has been tilting in Saturday Night at Men's Wear (the capitals are hers), and the pity of it is I fear she's got something.

For instance, an advantage.

I believe it's an offense against the law for a male to wear feminine dress in public, but as you know the law doesn't play fair. Women go around in male slacks and shirts and the policeman doesn't even blink an eyelid, unless maybe they're the kind of blondes gentlemen are said to prefer.

This kind of double sampling enables Mary to speak with some authority, whereas male experience is one-sided. If for example knees know only trews how can they tell what the flapping of loose draperies feels like?

* * *

Women like comfort, says the lady, whereas men continue to endure; they'd rather die than invest in a pair of removable snuggies. I think myself the removing job would be a bit awkward, but this is perhaps a delicate realm to dive into.

So is the question of disrobing, so I'll quote Mary direct lest you think I'm being immodest. To wit:

"In the long feminine striptease that began at the opening of the century, women shied successively their bustles, buckram linings, whalebone stays, petticoats, camisoles, long underwear, long skirts, long sleeves, long hair."

And what has man sacrificed? According to Miss Ross—one collar-button!

Touche! I suppose, but . . .

Would the striptease be for comfort or as a come-on for the poor, hapless, static male?

Mind you, as I said, Mary's got something. 'Tis sad but true that men are sartorial stick-in-the-muds; they'll stew at 90 in the shade with a collar and tie half-choking them while milady steps forth, looking, to quote Miss Ross again, "as cool and fresh as something done up in aspic."

* * *

I'm not sure that the waist assembly line of the male is to be despised, nevertheless. I don't cotton to the notion of hanging everything from the shoulders, a-la-Mary and all the other Marys, even if she cites Fred Allen as a "definitive joke" on male clothes. When challenged to invent a gag that would rock a radio audience he simply dropped his pants.

Actually, although feminine logic couldn't be expected to see this, the joke would be in what was exposed.

Here in truth is why ladies raised their hemlines and swiped the silk stockings from their escorts. Nature is kinder to one sex, unfortunately. It took the bluebloods of old a long time to discover this, and no wonder, thinking of those petticoats. Mary talks about, but once these disappeared so did knee breeches.

This year, says Miss Ross, the male model, 1954, will be narrow shouldered and tight trousered like his Edwardian forebears. For one this little lad won't be, not on your life. Whereas if Dior (is that his name?) status his pinkie up or down Mary's skirt will rise or fall accordingly, like the inexorable ebb and flow of the de Fuca strait.

Reports from Washington

(Editor's Note: Gerald Waring, who usually writes his column from Ottawa, has been spending a few days in Washington.)

CONGRESSMAN Sterling Cole of New York is unquestionably sincere in his belief that this continent's security would be greatly increased by the virtual integration of Canadian and American military forces which are or would be earmarked for home defense.

This could be achieved, he told me in an interview, under a North American Defense Treaty. It would be a two-country NATO, and would set up a unified continental defense command with a supreme commander like NATO's Gen. Alfred Greunther.

Talking to me, a Canadian newsman, Cole saw "no reason why the commander couldn't be a Canadian, just so long as he is an outstanding man acceptable to both countries. Of course, the deputy commander would be of the other country."

That admission may have been merely for export to Canada, in the hope that it would overcome some of the Canadian government's antipathy towards the Cole plan. It must be obvious to Cole, as it is to the government at Ottawa, that the mighty United States wouldn't accept a Canadian as overall commander.

* * *

Cole is no back bencher latching onto an idea just to get his name in the papers in this U.S. election year. A Republican from upstate New York for 20 years, he is currently chairman of the important Joint Committee on Atomic Energy.

Cole asserts that little effective action has been taken so far to prevent the Russians from H-bombing American cities. He speaks contemptuously of press releases, paper "plans and comforting reassurances," and alleges that the joint American-Canadian radar detection in interception program has been held up for two years by drawn-out negotiations with Canada.

On the other hand, high officials with whom I have talked in Ottawa state emphatically that co-operation on continental defense between the American and Canadian governments and forces is thorough and complete. They say that President Eisenhower expressed wholehearted approval of the joint program when he was in Ottawa last fall.

Sources here in Washington—not so highly placed as my Ottawa sources, but nonetheless reliable—corroborate U.S. confidence in the effectiveness of Canadian co-operation.

* * *

A major Canadian objection to Cole's plan to include Canada's home defense forces in a "unified" (for which read "U.S.") command is that in an emergency the commander might decide to concentrate all his defensive strength south of the 49th parallel.

To this Cole replies: "Canada is essential to the effective prosecution of a war. It is to our interest to defend her industrial potential just the same as our own."

That makes sense. But a situation could arise in an all-out Russian onslaught in which the commander would be faced with a choice between a tight defense of vital U.S. targets plus what might seem to him to be the not so vital Canadian targets. And he, not Cole, would make the decision.

In the final analysis, however, the Canadian government and people wouldn't surrender the sovereignty which implementation of the Cole proposal would entail unless they were convinced that a major advantage would thereby be gained or that the emergency was so acute as to make it imperative. They are not so convinced.

Why Not?

(From The Winnipeg Free Press)

IF IT were possible to accept at their face value the public statements of Mr. Molotov and Mr. Chou En-lai at Geneva, a settlement in the Far East might well be in sight. The Chinese Foreign Minister (borrowing without acknowledgement from the Japanese militarists) offered the conference a convenient formula: "Asia for the Asiatics." Mr. Molotov, agreeing—in public at least—urged that delegates should proceed from the principle that "the peoples of Asia have the full right to settle their affairs themselves."

It happens of course that the same Mr. Molotov has been most earnestly endeavoring ever since 1945 to convince the West that the Russians are Europeans of the Europeans; indeed the natural leaders of that continent. That Americans should remain in Europe has caused him considerable concern for after all they are Europeans some generations removed and perhaps therefore insensitive to Moscow's finer European feelings.

But this being the case, how does it happen that the Russians are in Asia—and unquestionably in far greater force than any other European people? Some millions of them—including Ukrainians and others—are present as guests of the MVD, residents of areas formally referred to in Soviet statutes as "remote regions of Siberia." Will it be necessary to transfer these people to the custody, let us say, of the Rumanians or Poles—or better still to release them altogether?

Again, if Mr. Chou En-lai's statement means anything, it is imperative that the subject peoples from the Urals to the Sea of Japan be de-Russified at once. Let the Russians who currently boss the Uzbeks and Kirghiz be recalled to their European homes and let the Red Army go with them. Let there be an end to the Soviet imperialism in Asia which involved, according to a careful student, Mr. Walter Kolarz, the disappearance of some 1,500,000 Kazakhs—by death or otherwise—from the area between 1926 and 1939. As Mr. Molotov says, the Asiatics peoples should have the right to settle their affairs themselves and it is difficult to believe that the Kazakhs would have settled their affairs in that period in a manner involving such gruesome results.

With the Russians once again behind the Urals cultivating their European look and happily rid of Asiatic cares, there should be no difficulty about restoring peace in the Far East.

The Packsack

OF GREGORY CLARK

A WEALTHY woman took a very active interest in a charitable and social service organization which consisted in its membership and direction almost entirely of women. She gave very generously of her time in the early stages of the organization's growth, served on the committees with great fidelity. But her cash larger than those of the other women who took the more active part in the work.

Over the years, as the association grew in strength and began to spread out over the province, she occasionally made contributions slightly larger than others. But nothing like the amount all her fellow workers knew she was capable of giving. This caused a good deal of gossip and comment in the organization; and as the years passed there was quite a division of opinion as to the generosity of the wealthy woman, and some question as to the extent of her true interest in the work of the association.

* * *

At last the organization grew large enough to afford a headquarters of some kind in the city, and the committee charged with looking for such a building found a house in a suitable district, not too far from down-town, which could be had for about $15,000.

The wealthy woman offered to lend the association $25,000 without interest, if the committee could find $15,000 from other sources within the body.

This created a great deal of ferment. Why couldn't the wealthy old woman GIVE the $20,000 instead of lending it, without interest?

The $15,000 was found, the $20,000 was borrowed, the house was bought, and the association had its headquarters.

It was when the wealthy woman died, in old age, that the reason of her attitude became known. She left the $20,000 and considerably more besides to her pet organization, with this comment in her will:

"There is no way to destroy an organization surer than for some wealthy person or a group of wealthy persons to undertake to finance it. It is only when we have to work in a social service enterprise that we keep its true purpose clearly in view. The basic implement of social service is personal interest. The greater the number interested, the stronger the implement. I hope my bequest does not cause any of you to relax."

A conceited bachelor was invited to dinner by a woman of his acquaintance, but did not accept.

A few days later, meeting her in the street, he said in his best manner, "I believe you asked me to dine with you last week."

The woman looked at him thoughtfully. "Why, yes I believe I did," she answered brightly. "And did you come?"

With the Classics

The windows, rattling in their frames,
The ocean, roaring up the beach,
The gusty blast, the bickering flames,
All mingled vaguely in our speech
Until they made themselves a part
Of fancies floating through the brain,
The long-lost ventures of the heart,
That send no answers back again,
O flames that glowed! O hearts that yearned!
They were indeed too much akin,
The driftwood fire without that burned,
The thoughts that burned and glowed within.

A Reply to Mortimore

The muddy sarcastic remarks of your Mr. Mortimore in this morning's paper will not inspire continued good relations between your fine country and mine. Neither are they fair to our fine President who was responsible for such fine military and diplomatic relations with the British Government in London during Second World War.

President Eisenhower's great task is to show the people of the States that eventually there must be another way than the United Nations framework to stop Russian aggression somewhere. You people have just as much at stake in Burma, Hong Kong, Australia and other parts of Oceania as we have in the Philippines, Guam and the Hawaiian Islands, and with our treaty action responsibilities in Japan and Korea. Aggression must stop somewhere. You tried it in Munich, and it did not work! It can never work in any present relationship with the people in control of Russia.

How far will you let the Russians advance? Have you any regard for the safety of Australia? And right on our joint door-step is the Communist stronghold in Guatemala and Honduras. How do you like that?

Please ask your Mr. Mortimore to be more realistically cheerful. We are in the same boat, and we must all follow your line. Mr. Pearson is strengthening the United Nations to enable your British Commonwealth of Nations and our United States of America to resist our common enemy.

Nesbitt Too

The late Mr. J. W. Jones did not pass into oblivion in 1933 as your reporter J. K. Nesbitt stated last week. Until the very end this fine man gave freely of his services to the public at large and the Conservative Party in particular.

Even in death those nurtured by public servants of Conservative belief are not safe from the outrageous and scandalous remarks of Mr. Nesbitt. A glance at the Legislature will show how this kind of journalism has lowered the standard of public servants, mainly because qualified men will not put themselves and their families in a position where they can be envicied for public sport by such men as Mr. Nesbitt.

Spirit of France

The French have fought beside us; they have fought against us and because they had their part in the birth of Canada we have a kinship with them which must endure.

Their names are writ large in Canada's history. They were the first to bring Christianity to Canada, and were tortured to death because of it. That same spirit which made them defy death long ago in Canada lives in the heart of all Frenchmen today. It is that spirit which kept them fighting to the end at Bien Dien Phu, braving torture and death for an ideal for a little strip of land that to them represented their nation's honor. And they suffered and died to uphold it. Every Canadian today honors them for their magnificent stand against hopeless odds.

Millet Hot Cakes

Of great interest at this present should be this tried and tested recipe for millet whole wheat hot cakes.

Mix together ½ cup finely ground millet, one cup fine whole wheat flour, ½ teaspoon salt and 2½ teaspoons baking powder. To this add two eggs and 1½ cups milk which have been well beaten. Stir only enough to moisten. Drop by tablespoonful into a hot griddle and bake as usual. Serve hot with golden butter and golden honey. These are "nutty" and quite crisp.

Health Insurance Backed

TORONTO (CP) Dr. C. W. Burns, president of the Canadian Medical Association, said Monday that while the association opposes "state medicine" or "compulsory health insurance" it will not stand in the way of a national health insurance plan in which premiums are voluntary and financial resources pooled.

Addressing the annual meeting of the Ontario Medical Association, Dr. Burns said "state medicine" implies a plan under which taxation pays for all medical care for all individuals.

This, he said, would bring doctors under control of the state "on the basis of civil servants."

He was certain no government would "precipitate" Canada into a compulsory national health plan without "serious thought . . . realizing as they must the fabulous expenditures it would entail and the unhappy experiences of those countries who have adopted injudicious plans."

The CMA estimated a national plan for Canada would cost about $700,000,000 a year rather than the $500,000,000 estimated by the federal government.

Fire Blame Laid On Short Circuit

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP) A short circuit was tentatively blamed Monday for the $1,000,000 fire that gutted a five-story building here Sunday.

Investigators coming to the wreckage of the Swan-Wright Building still had not definitely determined the cause, but said they believed it started in an electric element used for heating glass.

Stanley Wright, owner of the Swan-Wright Building, said he believed the fire started in the premises occupied by Hobbs Glass. The glass company, radio station CKNW and seven other firms were burned out in the four-hour blaze.

Fire captain Gordon Hartman was the only casualty. He was reported in fair condition in hospital suffering from smoke poisoning.

STAYED ON AIR

CKNW announcer Sol Lancaster, a former Victoria radio man, and chief control operator Bill Duncan kept the station on the air "until the flames are through our main wires and the fire chief ordered us out of the building." They broadcast a running description of the fire fight.

The station returned to the air, broadcasting from its transmitter, after an hour of silence.

Christmas Toys Tempting Display

Put a farmer in a room full of beautiful Christmas toys and any child can tell you what will happen. Father will soon be on his knees trying them out.

That's what happened to visitors today when they went to see a display of Christmas toys in the Empress Hotel, courtesy of Ron Todhunter of Vancouver. In two hotel rooms were 2,400 toys and gadgets.

New dolls are made entirely from foam rubber, skin-like texture and softness. One was blonde with curly hair which Mr. Todhunter explained was anchored right in the head so that it could stand washing and combing. The doll is the size of a one-year-old baby.

NONE TOO SOON

Mr. Todhunter was asked if he wasn't rushing the seasons a bit.

"Merchants want a chance to see what is coming up and put orders in early," he replied. "Many of the toys you see now will not be available even by Christmas time."

One such may be a big rocket racing car which steered crazily about the room.

Prices ranged from five cents for plastic baby play things to $70 for a bicycle.

Television—Mr. Todhunter said, is influencing the toy trade. "Cowboy outfits, complete with chaps and realistic six-shooters are in big demand because of the westerns kids see on TV."

One of the most unusual toys in the collection was a four-foot Panda bear. The immense creature weighs about 50 pounds.

"It's surprising the number of people who buy those," said Mr. Todhunter.

The moorlands of Montgomeryshire, Wales, were centres of habitation before the Bronze Age.

Car Accidents Show Decrease

Motor vehicle accidents in B.C. continued to show a decrease in the first months of 1954 compared with the same period last year.

From January to March 31, 1954, there were 4,963 accidents compared with 5,333 in the same three months last year, a 6.94 per cent drop.

The number of injuries went down from 1,581 to 1,223, 22.64 per cent; deaths from 32 to 27, a decrease of 15.63 per cent, and property damage, from $1,571,506 to $1,430,581, a decrease of 9.14 per cent.

Improvement came in spite of the fact that the number of motor vehicle and motorcycle licenses issued in the 1954 period was 301,670 compared with 279,568 in 1953, a rise of 7.9 per cent.

West Assured Of Ship Supply

In event of a war the western world will find itself faced with no serious ship shortage, Sir Victor Shepheard, KCB, director of naval construction for the British Admiralty, told the Colonist last night.

"We could call many of the ships now stored back into service," he said.

He added many Second World War Liberty ships are still available.

NOTE OF CAUTION

However, Sir Victor struck a note of caution. He said: "But that doesn't mean we should stop now. We must montinue to build."

The ship construction director for the Royal Navy is visiting Victoria on a tour of Canadian shipyards. He explains his task is "liaison between the Royal and Canadian navies in construction matters."

He was invited to Canada by RCN officials, he said, and will report to navy and defense authorities when the tour is complete in a month's time.

Yesterday Sir Victor inspected naval installations at Esquimalt and later work being done at Yarrows and VMD. "I am very pleased with what I saw," he said. "The standard of workmanship is high and work well organized."

In the afternoon he spoke at a luncheon at the Empress Hotel. He said the Royal Navy is placing "tremendous emphasis" on the construction of anti-submarine and minesweeping vessels.

Rain Finally Ends Long Halifax Drought

HALIFAX (CP) The third longest drought in 81 years ended for Halifax Monday when rain started to fall.

The last rain fell April 23 and for the following 16 days there was no more than a trace of rain or drizzle.

Forests throughout the province were tinder dry and were closed to travel because of the fire ban. The ban has since been relaxed to permit travel with permission of the local rangers.

Import of Wine Considered

The British Columbia Liquor Control Board is reported considering a request that California wines be sold in the province, supporting recent speculation that the Social Credit government is reversing the policy of former governments.

A spokesman for a Vancouver firm handling the wines said the company received a "cordial and attentive" hearing from the purchasing board of the LCB.

Former governments endorsed the policy banning import of California wines to the province. Introduction of the American wines would provide a far greater variety and at cheaper prices than many Australian, European, Ontario and local wines now sold, it is held.

Answer to a Question Often Asked

THE fee allowed to an executor—whether an individual or a trust company—is fixed by the Court.

Inexperienced friends may consent to act as executor but their inexperience may prove costly to the estate. One reason for this is their need for employing outside help—tax specialists, valuators and accountants. When bought piecemeal, such services can be costly.

Far from being expensive, the services of this Company (many specialists in one) are definitely economical.

The Sportlight

BY GRANTLAND RICE

The open golf championship to be held June 17-19 at Baltusrol may be one of the most exciting events in a long time.

It may well be one of the most important happenings along the way of the ancient game held in many years.

In the first place, it's no longer a certainty that Ben Hogan will play in an Open after 1954. Ben is no longer a dashing kid. He may play for years, but if he wins his fifth record-breaking U.S. Open next month, he may decide to call it a career and let someone else try to make it five or six in a row. I have no idea what his plans are, but Ben doesn't need the money and he doesn't need the extra fame. His place in golf is fixed.

In the second place, it's no certain thing that Sammy Snead will keep trying to win his first Open forever. Snead is good enough to win right now — he proved that at Augusta in the Masters. But he has been trying a long time — at least 20 years — and as each year passes it becomes a tougher assignment.

* * *

I followed Mac Smith, one of the finest of all golfers, 2 or 25 years ago to see him blow many chances. It became evident finally that he wasn't going to win, although he rarely hit a bad shot and ordinarily tallied around 70. He could beat any Open star—Gene Sarazen and Walter Hagen included—until he reached an Open. Then the door closed.

Like Hogan and Snead there will be many challengers — a long parade of younger golfers who have practically all the shots needed to win any event. But they have yet to prove the concentration and determination required to win a 72-hole medal test of a course like Baltusrol.

I would rather take a chance on such veterans as Lloyd Mangrum or Dutch Harrison. Mangrum slipped earlier this season, but came bounding back at Augusta. He may be right again — he is a dangerous competitor.

* * *

There is no particular choice from the young crop coming up. There are a flock of them, but none is a consistent winner. Most of them, playing fine rounds, are still consistent losers so far as tournaments are concerned.

Gene Littler, Bo Winninger, Dave Douglas are brilliant on occasion but when it comes to the blue chips of an Open, I'll take Hogan, Snead, Mangrum, Harrison, Cary Middlecoff or a few others who have become seasoned in the rigid tests required over 72 holes.

Don't forget it took Bobby Jones years to win an Open. Or that it took Hogan a long, long time to win the top prize of golf.

Hogan's main test in the next Open will be the 36 final holes.

The USGA still insists that a golf championship is also a test of stamina in that last day 36-hole frenzy. We don't agree. It is a 100 per cent test of golfing skill where 18 holes a day is all you can get in reasonably and comfortably with these modern four hours or longer rounds. Why are such rounds permitted? Why are no penalties imposed for clogging up a course as so many of the field do today?

Summer Hockey Fills Arenas

It's near mid-May but hockey goes on apace as Canadian teams continue battle for Allan and Memorial Cups and new Duke of Edinburgh Trophy, played between champions of pro Western and Quebec Hockey Leagues. Calgary Stampeders took 3-1 lead in best-of-nine series, which may not conclude until week from tomorrow, with 7-4 win last night. Above, Jack Gelineau, goalie of Quebec Aces, makes stop of shot by Max Quackenbush (extreme right). Other Calgary players in picture are GeorgeArgeter (No. 7) and Steve Witiuk.

Sons Say MacKay To Play Against Rocks Tomorrow

It's Victoria Shamrocks versus Nanaimo Native Sons, for the first time in the 1954 Inter-City Lacrosse League season, tomorrow night at Memorial Arena and although one game doesn't make a season, fans will be able to size up for themselves if the upIsland club will pose any threat to Victoria's Mann Cup hopes.

A fourth-place club last season but tough for the Shamrocks in the playoffs, Sons returned all of their last season sports and tomorrow night's line-up will boast three additions.

Coach Mickey McGuire stated last night that he will use Johnny MacKay, formerly of Vancouver Pilseners, at a defense berth. Forward Barney Welch and defenseman Baldy Main of Hamilton, the latter listed as utility player, are the other newcomers.

Sons got away to an inauspicious start this season, being rather fortunate in besting the youthful New Westminster Royals in their first game and then taking a trouncing from Pilsners. And so McGuire has made some line-up changes.

Spud Morelli, an ex forward who started the season as a defenseman, will partner MacKay on one defense combination. On the other will be Lisle Scott and Earl Bennie. Scott started the season as centre for John and Rob Lumley but has been moved back in an effort to plug the club's big weakness.

Replacing Scott on the Lumley line will be Vern Vanatter while Jim Heffernan will centre for Welch and Armin Duggan on another all-Eastern attacking trio. The third line is the Nanaimo threesome of Reg Dorman, Norm Fulla and Don Sherry. Tom White and Dave Patterson have been replaced by MacKay and Norm Fulla.

In goal, of course, is Fred Fulla.

Shamrocks, who edged past Pilseners in their only game two weeks ago, will be at full strength except for veteran Arnie Ferguson, expected to rejoin the club in a few weeks, and Bill Bathgate, who broke a finger in a fall at home and will be out for a few games.

In front of goalie Geordie Johnston, coach Red McMullen has paired Nip O'Hearn with Jack Thompson and Bob Monaghan with Tom Druce. Len Scott is listed as utility but will see plenty of action as a fifth defenseman.

Up front, fans will see a brand new forward line in action and two players for the first time. The newcomers are Jack Biondia, the stickhandling wizard, and speedy Jack Sibbald, both from the Ontario Lacrosse Association. They will flank Norm Baker, returning to play after missing a season, and the trio should prove to be a rugged, high-scoring combination.

It will be Larry Booth, Archie Browning and Whitey Severson and Jack Northup, Al Gill and Harry Irwin on the other lines.

Last season, the Rocks won five of eight games from Sons in league play and almost without exception there was plenty of action for fans. There was a total of 289 minutes in penalties, 160 by Sons, spent in the penalty box. The game high was 66 minutes for the first game and there were 51 and 43-minute affairs later in the season.

Next game tonight: Fletchers vs Navy Central Park 6.30 p.m.

Arrow Furniture took over first place in the senior "A" men's softball league last night by pounding out a 13-6 decision over the winless Chinese Students in a loosely played contest at Central Park.

It was students' fourth straight defeat and left them two points behind Duncan Mayo Lumber, which edged Fletchers, 8-7, at Duncan Sunday.

MOUND TROUBLES

Students continued to have pitching trouble as Arrows pounced on starter Henry Wong for five runs in the top of the second inning and picked up five more runs before he was relieved by Wally Bergins. In all, Wong and Bergins gave up 12 bases on balls.

Bud Ross started for the winners but gave way to big John Furmston in the fifth inning when students rallied to bring the score to 7-6. Furmston held Students scoreless the last four innings and gave up only two hits.

Bill Benn and George Brown both clubbed home runs for Arrows and Furmston got a double, a single and a walk in four trips to the plate. Wong banged out three singles for the losers and Chan added two hits.

RALLY TO WIN

On Sunday, Fletchers scored once in the top of the 10th inning to take a 7-6 lead and appeared well on their way to their fourth straight victory, but the UpIsland team countered with two runs in their half of the 10th, the big blow of the inning being a home run by Don Clark that tied the score.

League officials announced last night that Chuck Newman has been given a one game suspension after being banished from the park in Tuesday night's game by umpire Gordon Perkins. Newman won't see action tonight when Fletchers meet Navy at Central Park at 6.30 p.m.

All old age pensioners will be admitted to the stands tonight for ten cents.

Aces Blow 4-2 Lead In Pro Puck Playoffs

CALGARY (CP) — Calgary Stampeders, trailing 4-2 late in the second period, rallied to defeat Quebec Aces 7-4 as play for the Edinburgh Trophy contest here Monday night before 6813 fans.

The victory gave Calgary a 3-1 lead in the best of nine series. Fifth game is scheduled here Wednesday night and the sixth Thursday night.

Stampeders started strongly and looked as though they would have things pretty much their own way when they moved into a 2-0 lead late in the first period.

Aces, however, bounced back with four straight goals in an eight-minute scoring spree late in the opening session and early in the second period to gain a 4-2 lead and force the Cowboys to come through with a powerful attack for the victory.

Sid Finney and Archie Scott led the Calgary scoring parade with two goals each and singletons were notched by Max Quackenbush, Bill Shyetz and Ray Barry. Fred Hucul, Larry Regan, Gerry Cabana and Jean Talbot scored for Aces.

It was a free-wheeling game from start to finish with Quebec going all out for the full 60 minutes and Stampeders playing in spurts. The Stampeder defence wilted at times and Aces were quick to take advantage.

Referee Scotty Morrison handed out only five penalties, four to Quebec as tempers were held well in check throughout. Aces' penalties proved costly as two Stampeder goals came when the Cowboys had the edge in manpower.

Runs 50 Miles To Run 16 More

UXBRIDGE, England (Reuters) — George Oliver, 41, a local construction worker whose hobby is long-distance running, wanted to compete in a 16-mile road race.

But it was 50 miles from Uxbridge to Chichester, where the race was being held and he could not afford the train fare. So he ran the 50 miles.

It took him seven and a half hours. He panted into Chichester just before noon on Saturday and flopped down on a park bench for a nap.

About 100 runners competed in the race from Chichester to Portsmouth, four hours later. George was 50th to finish—but his time won him third prize in the handicap section.

Snead Misses Two-Footer, Loses Playoff

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W.Va. (AP) — Sam Snead made a great bid to win his fifth consecutive Greenbrier Open golf championship Sunday when he shot a last-round 67 to tie Jackie Burke, who had a 73, and Herman Scharlou, who had a 70.

That gave the trio 271s and forced a sudden-death playoff for top money. Burke was eliminated on the second extra hole, then Snead blew his chance on the next one as he flubbed a two-foot putt to give it to Scharlou. It was the first major victory for the Boca Raton, Fla., pro.

Discus Record Smashed At Victoria High Meet

One record was established yesterday at the Gyro cinder track as the annual Victoria High School track and field meet opened with finals in 12 field events being completed.

George Saggers set a new intermediate boy's discus mark with a heave of 91 feet, six inches, to break the old record of 87 feet, six inches set by Ted Harrison in 1952.

House II racked up 50 points yesterday to take the lead. House IV is second with 41½ followed by House I with 39½ and House III with 27½. The meet continues today and tomorrow with field event finals and winds up Friday with track events.

The annual inter-high meet is scheduled next week and field events will be held May 17, 18 and 19 and the track events will be run off May 21. The B.C. high school championships will be held outside Victoria for the first time in three years and athletes from all over the province will gather at Kelowna for the annual affair May 28.

ZONE TEAM?

Local high school officials will decide shortly how many athletes will represent Victoria at the provincial meet. The first three athletes in each event of the inter-high meet qualify for the B.C. meet but financial difficulties are expected to force officials to pick the top competitors from Esquimalt, Victoria High, Oak Bay and Mount View High Schools. Mt. Douglas has dropped out of inter-high competition this year.

End of Big Run

Shown just as he crossed finish line is Roger Bannister, 25-year-old English medical student, who Thursday became first man to run mile in less than four minutes. Bannister did it in 3.59.4 despite adverse conditions at Oxford. He had to be helped from track but quickly recovered. Bannister will run in British Empire Games at Vancouver, July 30 to August 7.

'Big Four' Mile Race Sought by Toronto

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Canadian National Exhibition hopes to stage an international mile foot race featuring four of the world's fastest runners, George Dufine, sport director of the big Toronto fair, said here Monday.

Duthie said the CNE has cabled Roger Bannister, who at Oxford last Thursday became the first man to run a mile under four minutes, inviting him to take part in the race.

He said invitations will also be extended to Australia's John Landy who has done the mile in 4.02; New Zealand's Murray Halberg 4.04.2 and Wes Santee of the University of Kansas recognized as the top miler in the United States.

Bannister, Landy and Halberg are expected to meet here in the British Empire Games scheduled July 30 to August 7, but the proposed Toronto meet would be the first to pit Bannister against Santee.

Duthie said the CNE suggested Bannister race either September 4 or 6, but offered him any date during the exhibition that runs from August 27 to September 9.

OFFERS FLIGHT

Bannister is scheduled to compete in the European championships about August 20, but Duthie said the CNE had offered to fly him back to Canada for the proposed race.

The genial sport director, here for a meeting of Canadian Olympic training plan coaches, also disclosed that plans had fallen through for a post-games track meet between British Empire Games champions and top Canadian track stars in the United States.

He said Los Angeles and other American cities which had earlier expressed interest in staging the meet had decided against it.

NOT ENTHUSIASTIC

At Kansas City, Wes Santee said he was more interested in doing a good job with the U.S. Marines than participating in the proposed "dream mile" race.

At the same time the long legged University of Kansas senior said he would like to challenge Bannister and a couple of swift Swedes who will be in the U.S. next month to a mile race at Los Angeles Coliseum June 10 or 11.

The Swedes are Ingvar Eriksson and Sune Karlsson.

In a circus of errors, arguments, rain and heavy hitting, the Cleveland Indians made an eight-run first inning rally stand up Monday night for an 8-7 victory over the New York Yankees, their third in a row this season over the world champions.

The game itself was only a sideshow. Plate umpire Bill Summers tossed out Yankee manager Casey Stengel and catcher Yogi Berra for arguing over plate calls in the first inning and coach Frank Crosetti was banished for another row in the third. Al Lopez, the Indians' boss, barely escaped the same fate after several complaints and the first inning, in which 11 runs were scored, took 52 minutes to complete.

In addition, rain held up the game in the fourth inning and the field became a sea of mud when the ground crew got its ropes entangled laying down the protective tarpaulin.

The Yankees knocked Bob Lemon out of the box in the second inning and completed their scoring in the third off rookie Don Mossi.

Yankee starter Whitey Ford, who has yet to win this season, couldn't get a man out and was relieved by Bob Kuzava, who yielded a grand-slam home run to Dave Philley. Rookie Bob Grim finally got the side retired and hooked up with Mossi in a brilliant pitching battle.

In the only other game played yesterday, Baltimore Orioles staged a four-run rally in the ninth inning to edge the Philadelphia Phillies 7-6 and handed rookie Bob Trice his second defeat in as many days after four straight victories. Trice lost to the Yankees 7-1 Sunday.

On Sunday, Steve Gromek won his fifth game in the 11-inning opener as Detroit Tigers swept Chicago White Sox to take a half-game lead in the American League. The second game ended in a scoreless tie called after 10 innings.

England Announces Club To Meet Yugo-Slavians

LONDON (AP) — England's soccer selectors today named their team for the match against Yugoslavia in Belgrade May 16 and didn't include Stanley Matthews.

But that does not mean the 39-year-old winger is on the shelf for the World Cup finals in Switzerland next month.

The selectors named 40 players from whom England's World Cup squads will be chosen and Matthews is on that list.

England's team against Yugoslavia will be: Gilbert Merrick (Birmingham); Ron Staniforth (Huddersfield); Roger Bryne (Manchester United); Billy Wright (Wolverhampton); captain, Bill Owen (Luton); Jimmy Dickinson (Portsmouth); Tom Finney (Preston); Ivor Broadis (Newcastle); Ronnie Allen (West Bromwich); Johnny Nicholls (West Bromwich); and Jimmy Mullen (Wolverhampton).

The team shows only one change from the side which whipped Scotland 4-2 last April. Owen takes over as centre half from Tottenham's Alf Ramsey.

Goalkeeper Reg King, Port Vale; half-back Stan Willemse, Chelsea; half-back Eric Gates, Huddersfield; forwards Peter Harris and Jackie Sewell, Sheffield Wednesday, travel as reserves.

Champs Beaten In Foursomes By Medalists

Medalists Mrs. R. Thorlwell and Mrs. J. Clark of Gorge Vale won the Canadian Ladies Golf Union handicap foursomes tournament at Gorge Vale yesterday, by edging defending champions, Mrs. G. E. Harris and Mrs. W. Mearns of the Victoria Golf Club, 4 and 3.

Hugh Morrison To Meet Hibberson in Golf Final

Hugh Morrison of Gorge Vale and Eric Hibberson of Uplands, two veterans of the golf trail, will battle it out in the 36-hole final for the Vancouver Island Open golf championship, Sunday, at the Victoria Golf Club.

Hibberson, who won the tourney in 1950 but who has been relatively inactive in tournament competition the past two years, moved into the final with a 5 and 4 victory over Alan Senior of Gorge Vale.

Morrison, a past Vancouver match-play-open champion, had a tougher time of it before he reached the final but two birdies late in the match paved the way for a 3 and 2 victory over clubmate John Merriman.

TIED AFTER 18

Although the golf was generally scrambly, the large gallery that followed the quartet around Uplands were kept in doubt until the late holes, both matches winding up all square at the end of 18 holes.

Merriman, who had ousted B.C. amateur champion Bob Fleming and defending champion Bob Morrison in earlier rounds, lost the first two holes but until Morrison pulled away at the finish, there was never more than a one-hole difference.

With the match all square after the 31st hole, Morrison fired a birdie four on the 32nd and got a birdie three on the 33rd to take a two-hole lead. Merriman conceded on the 34th when he slipped to a bogey four.

Hibberson played steady golf on the second 18 of his match with Senior and was only two over par for the final 14 holes. Hibberson won the 20th, 21st, 23rd and 24th holes to take a four-hole lead but Senior rallied to win the 26th and 27th.

Hibberson came right back to win the 28th and the 30th and the match ended on the 32nd when Senior took a bogey six.

Shift System for Schools Planned To Start Next Fall

Institution of the shift system in some Victoria schools will be unavoidable next fall, according to school board officials.

Oaklands and McKenzie Avenue schools, both taxed to capacity and facing bigger enrollments next year, are preparing to introduce the shift system.

A new plan of classroom enrollment is being planned by school officials, however, to keep the shift system to a minimum.

PLAN EXPLAINED

Explaining the plan, John Gough, municipal inspector of schools, stated:

"The scheme has been worked out by principals and officials in order to meet the critical shortage of classroom accommodation, some of which is due to defeat of the school referendum last December."

The plan will mean a change of school for several hundred Greater Victoria pupils who will be promoted to Grades 7 and 8 at the end of this term. The changes will be made possible through use of new classrooms provided in the new Central Junior High School.

ELIMINATE GRADES

To avoid the shift system in Tolmie, Tillicum and Strawberry Vale schools, it is planned to eliminate Grade 7 and 8 classes in these schools. Pupils in these grades will attend S. J. Willis Junior High School.

The new Lansdowne Junior High School, expected to open sometime in September, will accommodate Grade 7 and 8 pupils from Oaklands, Doncaster, Cedar Hill, Gordon Head and Frank Hobbs. Students at Willows school promoted to Grade 7 will also attend Lansdown if they live north of Neil Street and west of Cadboro Bay Road.

Grades 7 and 8 classes will be eliminated at South Park school and students in these grades will attend Central Junior High School next term.

Victoria West school will be the only city elementary school retaining grades 7 and 8.

Grade 8 classes at Lampson Street school will be transferred to Esquimalt's High School in September, making the latter a combined junior-senior high school.

School boundaries may be changed again in 1955 if more new schools have been completed by then.

School board officials are now reviewing the school building program defeated at the polls last December. This program was based on information collected some two years ago. Some revisions are being made to meet present and future needs.

Announcement regarding a new school building referendum is expected to be made by school officials in about a month.

Tragedy Averted at Nanaimo

Mother, Son Saved from Flames

NANAIMO. — Near-tragedy sent a mother and son to hospital here early Sunday morning when their Skinner Street home was destroyed by fire. One fireman also was treated for eyes badly affected by smoke. All are recovering.

Mrs. Emery Olson was helped by firemen from the home with her overcome son, Wayne, who had collapsed in the living room. He suffered a severely burned right arm. The mother was overcome by smoke. James Raffles, fireman, was also taken to hospital for emergency treatment to his eyes.

SMART WORK

Smart work by four firefighters, assisted by some unidentified passers-by, saved Mrs. Olson and her son. The mother was having difficulty getting her son out of the house when Firemen Raffles, William Rennie, Gordon Craig and Gordon McArthur, son of Fire Chief Colin McArthur, rushed in and brought both to safety. The place was then burning strongly and was filled with dense smoke.

Mr. Olson had made his way through a window after discovering the fire and reached the roof of an adjoining house, where he called for aid.

A dog, which remained in the house—for considerable time after all persons had been removed, was rescued and while affected, recovered.

A daughter, Fay, missed the adventure. She had been baby sitting the night before and remained overnight at the home where she was employed.

Cause of the blaze is not yet determined.

EXTRA MONEY—would it help you RIGHT NOW?

This is the time of the month when bills come in bunches. Our own experience is that the postman occasionally brings a few too many . . . but there just isn't enough in the pay envelope to cover every bill. If you are in the same fix, then . . . how would you like to get yours cleared away? Well, you can—with a Niagara loan. We've a choice of loan plans at Niagara and many people can borrow up to $1500. Payment plans, up to 24 months, give you time to get back on your feet. Your family is protected because your loan is covered by a life-insurance policy, that costs you not one penny extra. But that's not the only plus you get at Niagara for, if you compare, you'll find that on many amounts our rates are lower. ## Library Board Trims Budget

The library board met yesterday and trimmed its 1954 budget $4,519, from $185,900 to $181,400. The board was ordered to make a $4,000 cut when it submitted its estimates to city council last week.

Salaries were cut from $113,000 to $108,000 a step made possible by the retirement this year of several senior employees at the top of their wage rate who are being replaced by junior employees.

Cost of operating the bookmobile was reduced from $2,205 to $1,[illegible].

John Lord, chief librarian, explained to the board that savings were possible because the bookmobile was not traveling 60 miles a day as had been originally estimated.

Building maintenance and repairs were dropped from $1,866 to $1,798.

Although the Victoria Chamber of Commerce directors gave a mixed reception to their plans for a Northwest Museum and Indian Village adjacent to Thunderbird Park, the Tourist Trade Group is planning to tackle the subject afresh.

They think the site between the Legislative Buildings and the Empress Hotel is too valuable, tourist-wise, to be given over to a court house.

Bob Nelles is to head a group sub-committee to see the B.C. government which owns the land. "It would be wise to have its views before taking any further steps," Commerce yesterday by Professor J. A. Cunningham of the B.C. Indian Arts and Welfare Society.

"The Hunt fund will be exhausted at the end of this month, and unless other provision is made, Henry will go off fishing," he said.

Professor Cunningham said it would be a calamity if this were allowed to happen.

"The Kwakiutls are miles ahead of other Coast Indians in totem carving and dancing," he said. "Henry, his wife and son are experts. It is almost impossible to replace them."

Mungo Martin, who has been responsible for the renovation of Thunderbird Park, has had valuable help from M. Hunt during the past year.

But he is trying to become self-sufficient. Last year he was expected to see Queen Mother and receiving all the attention, everything he presented, he said.

Mayor H. C. Hayes, a Rotarian, said Rotary would be the most important sponsor, and suggested that the professor should be asked to speak to Chamber of Commerce directors to win their support.

Drive Needs Canvassers

H. W. Whalley, a resident of Kiwanis Village, has volunteered as a canvasser for funds to help build a further 16 units at the Cedar Hill Road location.

Kiwanis Club officials said yesterday Mr. Whalley is among the first volunteers to register. Accompanying him as a volunteer May 31 will be Keith MacFarlane of Esquimalt Lions Club, the first individual to register at the downtown office in the old Colonist building, Broad Street.

Some 2,000 canvassers are required in the city day campaign. It is hoped with these $2,000 of $[illegible] required to finish the units. The remaining money will come from the provincial government and a Central Housing and Mortgage Corporation loan.

Emphatic denial that the Pro Patria and Britannia branches of the Canadian Legion in Victoria might merge because of falling finances was made yesterday by the secretaries of the clubs.

Lieut.-Col. F. J. G. Parker, secretary of the Britannia branch, and C. A. Gill, secretary of the Pro Patria, said their branches are on a sound footing and have no intention of merging.

New Building Planned

Tenders for the new Medico-Arts Building to be built at Cook and Pandora should be in by June 3, according to the architects, Wade and Stockdill. The building will be of reinforced concrete and will have an elevator. It will occupy two lots, and an adjoining lot will be used for parking.

The building, which will be constructed for a group of doctors incorporated as the Medico-Arts Building Corporation, will cost about $250,000.

It will be a three-story block, equipped with reception and treatment rooms, a clinic laboratory and operating room for minor surgery. Doctors hope it will be completed and in use before the end of this year.

Due for Drydock

CGS STONETOWN

To Meet Rigors of Pacific

Weathership Stonetown Will Get Improved Hull

The weathership Stonetown, a converted Canadian navy frigate, will go into drydock immediately for major alterations to her hull, it was learned here last night on high authority.

It is understood the stresses of weather in the Pacific where she sweeps alternate 50 day watches with her sister ship St. Catharines has made it desirable to strengthen the ship.

AWARD AWAITED

Tenders closed on the Stonetown job last Thursday in Ottawa, and word of the contract award is expected here momentarily.

Both Yarrows Ltd. and Victoria Machinery Depot tendered on the job.

Disclosure that the work would take the better part of a month was made to the Colonist, but authorities were hesitant about discussing the cost, variously estimated between $[illegible] and $[illegible].

Stonetown docked here yesterday [illegible] ship.

AWARE OF PLANS

Members of her crew said she had experienced no unusually bad weather but they were aware of plans for her imminent drydocking.

"She's taken a beating from time to time," one said. I'm not surprised the hull shows signs of stress and strain."

St. Catharines is on station off Pusan doing her weather there in months about 900 miles off the coast.

Cash Low, Carver May Leave

Victoria is likely to lose Henry Hunt, one of its two famed Kwakiutl Indian totem carvers, within the next few weeks. If new funds to provide for him and his family are not forthcoming.

Youth Dies Instantly In Tractor Accident

Robin Marshall Maber, 20, was instantly killed yesterday morning in a tractor accident on his father's Central Saanich farm.

Chief Constable Fred L. Brownlee said it is believed the machine toppled over while being driven down a bank, throwing the young man off so that his head hit the deck of a truck parked nearby.

His father, E. M. Maber, was working only a short distance away but did not see the accident. He heard the crash, and found his son dead when he ran to the scene.

Dr. E. C. Hart, coroner, has ordered an inquiry at 10 a.m. today at McCall Brothers' funeral chapel.

Funeral services will be at 3 p.m. Wednesday in St. Stephen's Church, Saanich.

NO ONE KNOWS

The accident happened at about 9.30 a.m. "No one actually knows what happened," said Chief Brownlee last night. "We can only surmise from the tracks."

"The tractor went down the bank and part of it hit the truck. Maber was thrown off and his head hit the truck deck, killing him instantly."

It is believed he drove his machine a mechanized tractor to the top of the hand to fill the tank from some stored gasoline drums. The scene of the accident is about 100 yards from the farmhouse.

POPULAR FIGURE

Maber was a tractor driver with eight years' experience. He had spent his life in the Central Saanich area, and was a popular figure in the district.

He was pronounced dead by Dr. Raymond O. West of Rest Haven Hospital, Sidney, who was called to the accident.

The youth is survived by his parents, a sister who is a student nurse and a younger brother at home.

Lord's Day Laws Difficult in Saanich

It is almost impossible to enforce the Lord's Day Act, says Reeve Joseph Casey of Saanich.

Councillor Robert Fleming charged that much building, bulldozing and other similar work is being done on Sundays in the municipality.

He asked whether responsibility of the act lay with federal or provincial police.

Reeve Casey replied that such work is left to municipal police to charge under the act, and then added his opinion.

Councillor Fleming's remarks are expected to draw fire support from Victoria District Trades and Labor Council, AFL, ILC, which at the last has discussed alleged contraventions of the act.

It was reported at Saanich council last night that a person must be working for pay before a charge could be supported.

The labor group on its discussion of the past has introduced cases of men who have been asked to check work being done on individual union members but brought no charges.

Man Injured

Joseph Bryant, 2369 Belmont, is in good condition in St. Joseph's Hospital following a fall from the bank of a truck at Victoria Machinery Depot yesterday.

He suffered concussion and a possible skull fracture.

Marshall Case Policies May Hit Library Staff

The Victoria Public Library, which has lost six professional librarians since the beginning of this year, may have difficulty finding replacements because of professional hostility over the library board's handling of the John Marshall case.

Marshall, appointed working librarian last year, was dismissed by the board early this year for alleged past connections with proscribed organizations.

SOME CRITICISM

Actions and statements of board members in this case brought criticism from the British Columbia Library Association.

Now the association has urged its members not to apply for vacancies on the staff of the Victoria Public Library.

[illegible] the answer to this question [illegible] the association's total attitude toward work in public [illegible] may be made known. Let us hope we have the courtesy [illegible]

PRESENT STAFF

Five full-time professional librarians and five part-time professionals still remain in the employ of the library in addition to some 40 non-professional employees.

Only member of the library board singled out by the B.C.L.A. for commendation for his stand on the Marshall case was Prof. Robert Wasson.

With her resignation yesterday, Miss Georgina Wilson urged the board membership to support the high principles of service displayed by earlier boards.

Miss Wilson, acting head of the circulation department of the library, who plans to leave next month to be married, stated in her letter of resignation:

"I cannot, however, in all honesty resign without registering a plea that the present board support the principles of tolerance, intellectual freedom and high standards of service that were a characteristic of early and excellent boards."

Miss Wilson stated that it was with deep regret that she severed an eight-year association with the Victoria Public Library.

"It has been the greatest privilege of my life to have served under such board members as we have had, and in a library of such national repute for its book stock, its administration and its personnel," she stated in her letter.

The resignation was accepted by the board at a meeting yesterday.

The board sanctioned a number of staff changes during the meeting.

Miss Muriel Lang, head of the library reference department, was appointed assistant librarian and will serve in both capacities.

ACTING CHIEF

Miss Dora Payne was named acting chief of the library's bookmobile service. She has been handling the job since May 1, when the resignation of Miss Nora Desbrough, former bookmobile librarian, became effective.

Centre Plans Gain

A social centre for the more than 800 handicapped persons in Greater Victoria moved a step closer to reality yesterday.

Fred Blakeney, 2625 Empire street, a wheelchair victim of muscular dystrophy, who has long interested himself in the welfare of the handicapped said that a public educational meeting will take place at 7.30 [illegible]

FRED BLAKENEY

[illegible] Friday May [illegible] at the Health and Welfare Centre, Cook street.

[illegible] a favorite theme of Mr. Blakeney's [illegible] rehabilitation [illegible] employment.

Practically all such persons are employable if trained, he said.

In fact figures from the U.S. Labor department show that the employment of the handicapped is snowballing in the States."

Employers are also coming to realize that it's good business to hire them, he said.

It has been proved that where handicapped people are employed production rises and absenteeism falls, Mr. Blakeney said.

There's another surprising thing, he said. People who are so delighted to get a chance to prove that we're of some use, that we invariably work with more than average.

Mr. Blakeney, who will be chairman of the meeting said he hopes that all interested persons would attend, whether handicapped or not.

The Cook street centre, whose use was obtained from through city health officer Dr. [illegible] Grantham, is a convenient group for which [illegible] case.

You can't go ALL-OUT IF you feel ALL-IN

These days most people work under pressure, worry more, sleep less. This strain on body and brain makes physical fitness easier to lose—harder to regain. Today's tense living, lowered resistance, overwork, worry—any of these may affect normal kidney action. When kidneys get out of order, excess acids and wastes remain in the system. Then backache, disturbed rest that "tired-out" heavy-headed feeling often follow. That's the time to take Dodd's Kidney Pills. Dodd's stimulate the kidneys to normal action. Then you feel better—sleep better—work better. Ask for Dodd's Kidney Pills at any drug counter.

More Flavor from Recipes

For best results in any recipe that calls for milk, use Carnation. It has more concentrated goodness over other brands of evaporated milk.

Special Carnation heat-treatment gives creamier flavor and consistency. Compare it with the flavor of other evaporated milks. And Carnation is extra-concentrated, a quarter less than most other brands—the same quantity of milk you buy in other cans. Try Carnation Evaporated Milk.

TV Talk

BY ROY PARRETT

Good morning to everyone, especially those who have just finished watching the "Late Late show.

★ ★ ★

I'm sorry that TV shows have been a little mixed up because of the McCarthy Affair. Last evening programs on KING TV, KOMO TV and KING TV will be subject to changes for the duration of the shooting war.

★ ★ ★

I'm glad that so many TV-Sith Fans wrote for the informative booklet Your TV Antenna Is Showing.

Copies are still available free by writing to TV Talk, in care of the Colonist.

★ ★ ★

I'm tired of explaining to people that there is no new invention costing around $19.95 that will convert the once costly TV antenna.

Anything can be made at home and sold a little cheaper but the highliers who come to grief about results.

Perhaps people who consider price alone are the legitimate prey of such shysters.

★ ★ ★

I'm puzzled to know what to watch tonight. There are good shows on all channels.

"Strange Valley" is the title of the favorite story to be introduced by Adolphe Menjou on KING TV at 9. It is about a mountain village where outsiders are blind and who must accept an outsider who can, see even though he is in love with one of them and wants to stay.

"Ordeal By Fire," on CBUT at 9, is a gripping drama of suspense, murder and betrayal in Engand's lake district.

"Fireside Theatre" on KOMO and KING TV at 9, is the story of a Preston Foot and a better for small boy's impassioned defense of his dog.

Milton Berle has a new guest on KOMO TV at 8 to 9 on the Wild West show. Guests are Jack Palance, Vaughn Monroe and Monica Lewis for an evening of comedy.

If you can't make up your mind which of these two shows to watch there is Captain John Herrick (Preston Foster to you) is the tugboat skipper in a story of his beloved dog even though it means the loss of his chances of adoption.

KTNT TV presents "The Terror Begins" on Suspense at 9 to It is the story of the assassination of the Communist chief of Leningrad in 1935 — which touched off Stalin's party purge.

David Niven and Barbara Lawrence star in A Man of the World on Four Star Playhouse at 10 on KTNT TV. The story is quite a love story.

CNR, Province May Share $80,000 Cost of Bridge

Cost of a new $80,000 railway bridge at Douglas Street and Carey Road will probably be shared by the provincial government and the CNR.

The bridge, near Saanich's No. 1 fire hall on the Patricia Bay Highway, must be shifted and widened to conform to the route and width of the new road.

The Board of Transport Commissioners yesterday heard argument from provincial government and CNR officials over who would pay for the reconstruction. The CNR built the bridge in 1914 and remodeled it in 1938.

$30,000 REPORTED

It was learned yesterday that the disputing parties may settle the matter "out of court" with the CNR contributing about $30,000 toward the cost. Even if the settlement falls through, it is likely the commissioners will rule that the cost be shared.

Other similar cases in Canada have usually been decided by the board on a cost-sharing basis.

Provincial government departmental solicitor Allan MacLean argued that the bridge, while conforming to original needs, now sets up an "unnatural barrier" on the new highway.

Appearing for the railway, A. H. Hart of Montreal claimed his company had already paid for the original bridge and for its remodeling. He said the present need arises from the government's plan to build a new highway, not from anything the railway did.

The new bridge must be 38 feet wide to conform to highway specifications. The old bridge, now considered a hazard and a bottleneck, is 24 feet wide on a 6-foot-wide high way.

The transport board's hearing has been postponed while settlement negotiations are completed. If they fail, argument will continue later in the week.

A spokesman for the provincial public works department said yesterday the bridge "will be built and must be built" regardless of the outcome.

Inner Harbor Stage Offer Wins Praise

The offer of Harold Elworthy of the Island Tug and Barge to supply a floating stage for inner harbor summer entertainment was applauded yesterday by members of the Tourist Trade Group of Victoria Chamber of Commerce.

Officials of the group were authorized to explore further the possibilities of putting on an evening show on a barge anchored off the Causeway.

Cy Porter, group secretary, said the plan involved an hour's entertainment between 7 and 8 p.m. every day during July and August.

He suggested that there might be choir singing one evening, symphony music on another, bands on another and church services on Sundays.

Mr. Porter added the retail merchants offered their support.

One member pointed out that when a showboat had been put on a few years ago, the scheme failed because of lack of funds.

J. Courtney Haddock agreed that funds would be necessary if the entertainment was to be a success.

TCP Re-powers Your Engine

TCP*, a Shell-discovered additive blended into Shell Premium Gasoline, sets free the captive power formerly locked in by lead and carbon deposits. It's the greatest gasoline development in 31 years.

Acts so fast it re-powers your engine before you've finished your second tankful.

Did you know that up to 15% of your engine's power is actually trapped . . . that you are paying for power you aren't getting?

The reason is this: Every gasoline sold today contains deposit-forming compounds. And, as gasoline is burned, lead and carbon deposits form on the walls of the combustion chamber and on the tips of the spark plugs. In the combustion chamber these deposits become "red hot," especially when you are accelerating, and "set off" the gasoline-air mixture before the piston reaches its proper firing position. Power works against you, not for you. This condition is called pre-ignition and it not only wastes power and fuel—it is also responsible for a most severe kind of knock—engineers call it "wild ping."

These deposits also cause power loss by short-circuiting spark plugs, causing them to misfire when you need power most.

Now, however, there is a way to release the imprisoned power in your engine—and quickly!

It's Shell Premium Gasoline with TCP, the greatest gasoline development since tetraethyl lead. TCP additive actually re-powers your engine by changing the character of the lead and carbon deposits. In the combustion chamber it "fireproofs" them so they cannot glow and cause pre-ignition. And, because it makes the deposits non-conductors of electricity, spark plugs no longer short-circuit—they fire on time. Power works for you—not against you.

By the time you have finished your second tankful, you'll be getting up to 15% more power. But remember—because these deposits are constantly building up, continued use of Shell Premium Gasoline with TCP is essential to retain its full benefits.

Shell Premium Gasoline with TCP is available only at Shell dealers.

*Shell's Trademark for this unique gasoline additive developed by Shell Research. Patent applied for.

FBI Nabs Suspect In Seattle

SEATTLE, Wash. (UP)—Seattle agents of the FBI Monday arrested Alex Whitmore, 44-year-old hatchet-wielding robber and one of the FBI's "10 most wanted" criminals.

Richard Auerbach special agent in charge of the Seattle FBI office, said Whitmore was arrested in the rear of a Third Avenue apartment house where he lived.

Whitmore was taken to the King County Jail to await arraignment today on a charge of unlawful flight from Norfolk, Va., to avoid prosecution for a hatchet assault and robbery.

Auerbach said the FBI has been looking for Whitmore since 1950, when he fled Norfolk to avoid prosecution on the assault and robbery charge.

WORKING IN SEATTLE

Whitmore had been working in Seattle as a roofer and local paint man for the past three weeks, Auerbach said. The fugitive had dyed his hair red and taken the alias of "Ed Willams."

He told FBI agents he first learned he was on the "most wanted" list when he saw his picture on a television program while he was sitting in a beer parlor in nearby Tacoma.

Auerbach said Whitmore had set up a short-wave radio in his apartment so he could listen to police calls.

He also had a $50 bill sewn in the seam of his trousers for use as "getaway money," Auerbach said.

DEVELOPED ULCERS

Whitmore told FBI agents he had developed a case of stomach ulcers worrying over the ultimate certainty of his arrest.

"I was looking over my shoulder all the time," he said.

Whitmore said he took a bus from Pensacola, Fla., for Los Angeles March 29. He stayed in the California city for nine days before buying a used car for $60 and driving to Seattle.

While in Pensacola Whitmore said he received a police ticket for not having the rear lights on his automobile in working order. He walked into the Pensacola police station before leaving there and paid the ticket, he told the FBI.

LONG RECORD

Auerbach said Whitmore was born in Carrollton, Ga., March 25, 1909. He has a criminal record going back to 1931 and has been convicted of simple larceny, grand larceny, burglary and store breaking.

FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover said the alleged holdup—on August 14, 1950—turned into a "violent battle" when the victim of the attack defended himself with a knife against Whitmore's hatchet.

Both men were wounded in the fight, but the robber, Hoover said, was able to "seize the victim's cash and personal belongings before fleeing from the scene." He sought treatment at a Norfolk, Va., hospital, but escaped police officers.

Hoover said Whitmore will be held at the King County Jail, Seattle, for arraignment before U.S. Commissioner John J. Burns today.

The FBI, in placing him on its list, warned that he was "extremely dangerous" and might be armed.

Ontario Highway Charge Believed 'Some Mixup'

Word from Toronto that he had been charged yesterday in a warrant with conspiracy to defraud the Ontario government shocked Victoria's R. F. Petursson, supervising engineer of the British Columbia district of the Trans-Canada Highway.

"I can't understand it," Mr. Petursson told the Colonist.

"When I was in the East recently, I was told I might have to appear as a witness. I think there must have been some mixup. I can't see how I can be involved."

An Ottawa dispatch by Canadian Press quoted Works Minister Winters as saying that the federal highways inspector had been questioned by his department before the charge was laid. It involved irregularities in Ontario road-building contracts, the minister said.

Before he came here in 1952, Petursson had spent two years in the Lakehead area on the Trans-Canada Highway project.

NOT IN DUTIES

"Inspectors do not deal with contractors," Mr. Petursson said last night. "My duties were simply to see that contractors' engineers kept to certain schedules."

RCMP here said it would be a matter for city police action if Mr. Petursson were to be served here. But the city police had had no instructions from Ottawa last night, Chief John Blackstock told the Colonist.

Mr. Petursson and his family live at 316 Moss Street.

"We are all very much disturbed," Mrs. Petursson said. "We simply cannot understand it."

Mr. Winters said his department has done "quite a bit" of investigating in connection with Trans-Canada Highway construction in Ontario, according to the Canadian Press.

"We questioned Petursson and took him to Toronto to enable legal agents of the province of Ontario to question him," he said.

'BEFORE COURTS'

Mr. Winters in an interview said the Petursson case is now before the courts and is a matter to be dealt with by Ontario authorities.

Mr. Petursson, who joined the Trans-Canada Highway division of the old resources department June 19, 1950, was transferred from the Lakehead district June 1, 1952, to be inspecting engineer at Victoria. He was promoted to supervising engineer of the British Columbia district on the retirement of H. L. Hayne August 19, 1952 and has held that post since.

From 1931 to 1936 he served as location engineer and later divisional engineer with the Ontario department of northern development in the Kenora district.

He left the department in 1937 and for 13 years operated his own engineering construction firm in the Thunder Bay-Kenora district.

FIRST FEDERAL MAN

Canadian Press said Mr. Petursson was charged in a warrant with conspiracy to defraud the Ontario government. The warrant reportedly was sent to West Coast authorities. He is the first federal government employee accused in connection with the case.

Other warrants named three contracting companies and some of their officials and the former No. 3 man in the Ontario highways department, together with some other men who have worked for the department. They are charged with conspiracy to defraud.

The former high official of the department named is Cecil H. Nelson, suspended as chief engineer for what was described as lack of co-operation with investigators. At his Port Hope home Nelson said he had no immediate comment.

Nelson was arrested Monday, as were seven of the other 10 men named in the charges.

AMOUNT SECRET

A source close to the investigation said the amount involved in the charges covered by the warrants was not disclosed because the charge is conspiracy rather than straight fraud.

The companies charged are Standard Paving Ltd., Tomlinson Brothers Ltd., and its subsidiary, Tomlinson Brothers (Eastern) Ltd., and Bergmann Construction Company.

Crown officials said the conspiracy charge against Standard Paving Ltd. arises out of work done on the Trans-Canada Highway between Terrace Bay and Marathon, near the northern shore of Lake Superior.

FREED ON BAIL

At Whitby, Ont., Nelson Walter Bergmann, president of the Bergmann company, and John A. West, superintendent of the Bergmann firm, appeared before a justice of the peace and were released on bail of $10,000 each.

The charge against Tomlinson Brothers Ltd., of Fort William and Winnipeg, said to concern a contract or contracts in the Fort William area, names the company and its subsidiary; W. S. Tomlinson of Fort William, its president; C. W. Taylor of Fort William, company superintendent; Arthur M. Mills, former Fort William division engineer for the Ontario department of highways, and Mr. Petursson.

At Fort William, Mills and Taylor appeared in police court Monday and were remanded to May 31.

Britons Jealous of U.S. Newspaper Poll Shows

LONDON (Reuters)—Jealousy over the fact the United States is "exactly" what Britain used to be—the richest and most powerful nation on earth—is a "bitter pill" for Britons and one of their main difficulties in getting along with Americans.

That was one of the main conclusions drawn by the mass-circulation Daily Mirror in the second instalment of a report on what Americans here think of the British people and "what the British think of the Yanks."

Sunday the Mirror's top columnist, William Connor, told the gripes of American servicemen on the treatment they get from Britons; while on Monday he reported on what galls Britons about Americans.

BRITONS TOUCHY

After noting that Britons are "touchy" about having fallen from their former place of world leadership, Connor, who writes under the name "Cassandra," commented on the Americans by saying: "And boy, do you touch us off."

He said that Britons dislike Americans' "chummy, chummy brotherhood and sisterhood" and their "fear" of not being liked.

Beyond this he said "the failure of the United States government to consult or inform the British people on important decisions" made them feel as if they weren't even "a junior partner in the common problem of world affairs."

Two such "decisions" cited by Connor were the bombing of the Yalu River between Korea and China and the development of the hydrogen bomb.

Another British gripe listed by Connor was "the fun you make of our domestic habits, the way you despise us for being dull."

"A cup of tea," he said, "is more enjoyable to us than the garish delights of the juke box."

No Place Like Home Even Down Manhole

NEW YORK (AP)—Transit police Monday found a teen-age boy who had set up housekeeping in a cable-splicing room 20 feet below a street manhole in Brooklyn.

The youth, Robert Lindell, 15, apparently had been living in the room about three weeks.

What caused him to take up such a residence was not known immediately.

Police said the quarters were neat and orderly. There was an auto rear seat for sleeping, two seats from an old car as chairs, a can of alcohol for cooking and even two pictures on the walls.

A woman saw young Lindell walking along a railroad cut Sunday and notified police. He evidently entered the room via a door off the cut, rather than through the manhole above.

Aid Old Soldiers, Pearkes Demands

BY TOM GREEN
Colonist Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA—Major-General G. R. Pearkes, VC, in the House of Commons Monday night, called upon the government to bring down legislation immediately amending the War Veterans' Allowance Act to give better treatment to Canada's old soldiers who are in advancing years and have a hard time to make ends meet.

"Those men are advancing years. They have given so much in the past that they are finding it utterly impossible, in many cases, to keep up with the modern trend of life today," the Progressive Conservative member for Esquimalt-Saanich declared.

LOOK FOR HELP

"They have been looking to this government to do something new to help to meet the critical situation with which they are faced in their declining years."

Such legislation, he added, could be placed before a veterans affairs committee of the commons now being set up. The Canadian Legion with its 300,000 membership was demanding that something be done for these old soldiers. It spoke for a million and a quarter millions veterans even though they were not all members of the Legion.

AMENDMENTS URGED

"Let the government now choose to bring forward amendments which will relieve the doubt, uncertainty and suffering with which these old soldiers are now faced," General Pearkes challenged.

If the government refused, he continued, then it "is guilty of most callous indifference and utter failure to realize the situation which is facing the veterans of Canada today. The government knows what the situation is. The government can bring in the legislation. If it fails to do so, I consider it to be an atrocious affront to the ex-servicemen of this country."

French Bolster Delta

HANOI, Indo-China (AP)—French Union forces are strengthening their defenses in the vital Red River delta below Hanoi against a rebel assault that might come before the seasonal big rains hit their peak at the end of June.

Qualified French army sources said Monday night it was highly unlikely the Red-led Vietminh could shift the forces which overwhelmed Dien Bien Phu into attack positions against the delta perimeter before another month.

Rebel troops were reported moving in and out of the northwest Indo-China country and French fighters and bombers heavily attacked key roads northwest of Dien Bien Phu.

Meanwhile, the rebel Vietminh radio said Monday night every possible medical assistance was being given to French Union soldiers wounded and taken prisoner at Dien Bien Phu.

From Saigon the French government instructed its top military commander in Indo-China to arrange with the Vietminh for evacuation of French Union wounded from Dien Bien Phu.

Gen. Henri Navarre, commander of French Union forces in Indo-China, was ordered to make contact with the rebels' Communist military chief, Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap, to arrange the airlift.

President Meets Key Men

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower met with his top defence chiefs at the White House Monday amid a surge of behind-the-scenes activity suggesting an urgent review of American policy in Europe and Asia.

With a Democratic-led storm over foreign policy blowing up on Capital Hill, Eisenhower conferred separately with Defence Secretary Charles Wilson and Admiral Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff.

DULLES ACTIVE

In another move, State Secretary Dulles conferred with the ambassadors of Australia, Thailand and the Philippines to discuss his proposal for creation of an anti-Communist "united front" in the Far East.

Lincoln White, state department press officer, told reporters Dulles called the envoys "to find out who is to join the united front and what commitments they are prepared to make."

Royal Children Visit Famous Apes

GIBRALTAR (Reuters)—Prince Charles and Princess Anne played with the famous Gibraltar apes Monday while their parents, Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh, were busy with the official business of inspecting "The Rock."

The apes, only native ones on the European continent, are the tailless Barbary variety.

Tradition says that when they leave Gibraltar, the British will too, which is something the government of adjacent Spain has been demanding.

Seventeen of the 40 to 50 pound animals were shown to the children. The youngsters ran from one to another feeding them peanuts.

Old Bess, 16, oldest member of the pack, was on hand for the visit but not Max, the pack's acknowledged leader. He had a toothache.

The Queen in a luncheon broadcast said Britain was determined to ensure the "safekeeping of the colony and fortress of Gibraltar."

In recent months the government of Gen. Francisco Franco has been demanding that Britain return Gibraltar to Spain. It was ceded to Britain in 1713 by the Treaty of Utrecht.

Pro-Spanish demonstrations were feared during the Royal visit and tight security regulations were imposed. Instead Elizabeth and her husband were greeted by loud shouts of "long live Queen Elizabeth" from the English-speaking part of the colony's 28,000 inhabitants and cries of "viva Reina Elizabeth" from Spanish-speaking residents.

The shouts could be heard across the border in Spanish territory where khaki-clad Spanish soldiers stood guard among barbed wire and pillboxes.

The Queen and the Duke drove to within 200 yards of the frontier during their motor tour of the colony. They later drove through the city's narrow streets and were cheered by crowds hanging out of office windows in the business district.

During the drive they travelled for nearly two miles through tunnels blasted deep into the rock of Gibraltar during the Second World War by Canadian army engineers.
